It's okay to be enthusiastic about your job, but there's no need to lose your head over it, would be good advice for Emil Kalyn, worker on BCER underground wiring project in downtown Victoria. Actually Emil is up to ears in work as pal stops by for an exchange of words.—(Times photo)

Egyptian Governor on Way To Take Over Gaza Duties

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egypt's newly-appointed civil governor for the Gaza Strip left here today to take over his duties in the territory, reliable sources said.

He departed after President Nasser held a long meeting with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi to discuss the outcome of Fawzi's four-month stay in the United States.

Egypt's governor for Gaza is Gen. Hassan Abdul Latif.

A few hours before his reported departure, UN Undersecretary Ralph Bunche and Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the UN Emergency Force, left for Gaza. Egypt assured them of her "full co-operation" with the UNEF.

Lt.-Col. Abdel Kadar Hatem, Egypt's information director, said the inhabitants of Gaza are co-operating with the UNEF "so that the mission entrusted to it by the United Nations may be realized."

7,000 DEMONSTRATE

About 7,000 persons took part in peaceful demonstrations in Gaza Wednesday in support of the return of Egyptian administrators.

DENIES STATEMENT

Bunche said in a statement issued today that he never used the expression "welcome or cooperate with" in connection with the Egyptian governor for the Gaza Strip.

Wednesday, Bunche was quoted as saying after a two-hour meeting with President Nasser that "UNEF would co-operate with Egyptian administrators in Gaza."

'Go Right Back There,' Says Rescued Flier

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of two men lost for 10 days in the wilds of northern B.C. arrived here Wednesday and said he'll go "right back there as soon as my job calls for me to."

Gregg Temperley, 26-year-old engineer from Powell River, looked little the worse for his experience. He said he was "tired and a little hungry."

WENNER-GREN PROMISES $25,000 GIFT FOR UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Philanthropist Dr. Axel Wenner-Gren made a token $25,000 donation to University of B.C. Wednesday—and then remembered he didn't have the money with him.

"One of my aides will attend to it," he told undergraduates. "But if he doesn't, I would like you to contact Mr. Bernard Gore (managing director of the Wenner-Gren Foundations)."

Let UN Control Gaza, Lloyd Tells Commons

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told Parliament today Britain believes the disputed Gaza Strip "should be made a United Nations responsibility."

Lloyd made the statement in opening a House of Commons debate on the Middle East.

He said Britain has always favored placing the Gaza Strip under some form of international control.

"It seems right to us that the United Nations, in view of the failure to solve the Arab-Israel problem over the years, should assume more direct responsibility," he added.

The minister said he believes the present frontiers between Israel and the Arab states are "nonsense."

Britain, he added, thinks the basis for a settlement could be found on the following lines:

1. Guarantees to the Arab states against Israeli territorial expansion; 2. Guarantees to Israel against extermination; 3. A compromise on refugees, frontiers and water.

Reds Ready If Budapest Patriots Rise

BUDAPEST (AP)—Communist police mounted guard today at the monument of a Hungarian poet-hero to forestall any outbreak in Friday's anniversary of his appeal for freedom from foreign rule.

A small open truck, flying the red banner and a Hungarian flag, was patrolling around the statue of Sandor Petoefi on the banks of the Danube. It was on March 15, 1848, that his revolt against Austria started, only to be put down with Russian aid.

Hungarian troops and police were patrolling the city, reinforced by the newly-formed "workers guards."

Budapest had an almost festive air. There were plenty of flags, including quite a few red ones. Communist authorities put up two Hungarian flags: for every red banner.

BUDGET READING TONIGHT

An anti-inflationary budget, geared to restrain credit and produce a surplus for the federal government, likely will be presented to Canadians tonight by Finance Minister Walter Harris.

He will start reading his budget speech in Commons shortly after 5 p.m., PST. Major tax cuts are not expected, but it could well contain announcement of a decision for a 15 per cent boost in pensions for the aged, veterans, war widows, disabled and blind.

(Phone The Times, 2-3131, for information on the budget.)

Aleutians Rocked Again By Temblor

SITKA, Alaska (AP)—Another major earthquake occurred today in the Aleutian Islands, scene of more than 80 shocks since last Saturday's violent tremor that triggered destructive tidal waves.

A Seattle seismologist said it was the strongest of the after-shocks, but considerably lighter than the initial quake from which tidal waves caused $2,000,000 damage in the Hawaiian Islands.

A coast and geodetic survey spokesman at Honolulu said it was unlikely today's shock would cause seismic waves.

The latest shock was recorded shortly before 7 a.m. PST at the coast and geodetic survey station here.

Shock was placed close to Attu Island, near the tip of the Aleutian chain. This is about 400 miles west of the Andreanof Islands, centre of Saturday's quake.

Meantime, Reeves Aleutian Airlines, which has an office at Cold Bay, Alaska, reported there have been 82 shocks felt since Saturday on Adak Island, all strong enough to move furniture.

"There are 15-foot-wide breaks in the road on Adak," an airline spokesman said. "Two bridges are out, and some housing is damaged."

Parker Decorated

LONDON (AP)—The Queen personally bestowed the Royal Victorian Order today on Cmdr. Michael Parker, close friend and secretary to Prince Philip for nine years. He resigned earlier this year when the news got out that he and his wife had separated.

Bomb Scare Hits N.Y. Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Police searched the New York Stock Exchange for a bomb today, but it was business as usual on the trading floor.

No bomb was found. A bomb explosion just outside the stock exchange Sept. 16, 1920, killed 30 persons, injured 100, and did $2,000,000 damage.

Judgment Reserved In Sommers' Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Appeal Court Wednesday reserved judgment in former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers' appeal against a court order allowing lawyer David Sturdy to examine bank records.

Because the trial of Mr. Sommers' slander action against Mr. Sturdy arising from a statement made at the Sloan forestry commission has been set for April 29, an early judgment is expected.

St. Laurent Denies Further Egypt Veto

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent, in reply to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, said today he has no knowledge that Egyptian President Nasser imposed any veto on addition of more Canadian troops to the United Nations. Emergency Force in Egypt.

First Viscount Crash Kills 23 at Manchester

Trail of Burning Wreckage Left In Housing Area

MANCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters) — A four-engine British Viscount airliner today crashed on a housing development here, killing all 20 persons aboard and three or four persons in two houses.

The turbo-propeller plane, Britain's best-selling airliner abroad, burst into flames and turned on its back as it plowed through the houses. Teddy bears and dolls lay scattered among the wreckage, indicating children were among the dead.

An eyewitness said the airliner, first Viscount delivered to British European Airways, made banging noises as it flew low near Ringway airport here. One wing dipped sharply, he said, and struck the ground, forcing the airliner to turn turtle.

PILOT HERO
"It looked as though the pilot, knowing he was going to crash, was trying to avoid two schools just outside the airport," the eyewitness said. "Many children were in the playgrounds at the time."

An official statement said there were 15 passengers and five crew aboard the plane.

Two houses were flattened and a third partially wrecked. Police said there were people inside the houses, but they did not know how many.

The plane is the first Viscount to crash on commercial service. The Viscount—Britain's most successful airliner—is a four-engined turbo-propeller plane.

A police spokesman said: "As far as we know there are no survivors. We have had none reported and from what we have heard it seems very unlikely that there could be any."

"The plane apparently over-shot the runway while coming into land and hit houses on a council estate, a suburban house project. There were people inside the houses but we don't know how many."

TRAIL OF WRECKAGE
Bruce Martin, an aerial photographer who flew over the wreckage soon after the crash, said the plane tore through two houses, leaving a trail of burning wreckage.

The aircraft, a British European Airways flight, was arriving at Ringway airport from Amsterdam when it crashed.

GENERAL PROTEST STRIKE

First Cypriot Hangs For Carrying Weapon

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Thousands of Greek Cypriots closed their stores and went on strike today to mourn a 19-year-old youth hanged for carrying a sub-machine gun.

The strike was reported as total in Limassol, Famagusta and Larnaca. Shops, schools, businesses, transport and industry were affected.

Nicosia, the capital, came to a general standstill for an hour. No cars or pedestrians appeared on the streets, and workers and school children stayed home all morning.

MANDATORY

The youth, Evangelos Paliokarides, was the youngest Greek Cypriot executed for terrorist action since the EOKA terrorist movement declared war on British rule two years ago. He was hanged early today.

He was also the first to die for carrying a firearm since the death penalty was made mandatory for such offences under emergency regulations last fall.

Sacred Backbencher Forces Probe Of RCMP Role in Indian's Death

A Social Credit member prodded the government Wednesday into making a further investigation of an incident at Williams Lake in which the RCMP is alleged to have allowed a drunken Indian woman to freeze to death.

Cyril Sheldford (SC-Omineca) charged Tuesday that RCMP officers "dumped" the woman and her husband in a stampee ground after they became drunk because there was no room for them in the jail.

Obviously angered, Mr. Sheldford brought the matter up before the House again Wednesday during discussion of the estimate for RCMP policing in the province.

After Mr. Sheldford insisted that something be done, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan moved that the estimate vote be put over until more information is gathered.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, who promised to give further study to the case, said he was informed that the woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Harry, 35, and her husband, Isadore, had been picked up for drunkenness in November, 1954.

JAIL FULL

Because the jail was full they were released and taken to the stampee grounds to sober up. Mr. Harry, who was said to be less drunk than his wife, was told to look after her, but returned to Williams Lake.

Three days later Mrs. Harry's frozen body was found on the grounds.

Her husband was charged with manslaughter but was acquitted.

"That's not sufficient answer," said Mr. Sheldford.

He then read a newspaper account of the affair and followed it up with information he said had been obtained from the Indian agent at Williams Lake.

During the argument, before the vote was taken, Gordon

Teamsters' Official Faces Bribe Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, a power in the giant teamsters' union, today faced charges that he tried to bribe a lawyer working for a Senate committee investigating racketeering in labor and industry.

Hoffa, 44-year-old teamster vice-president, was arrested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation Wednesday night and charged with hiring John Cye Cheasty, a New York lawyer, to get a job with the committee and then feed him information from its files.

DOUBLE AGENT

Both the FBI and committee chairman John McClellan (Dem., Ar.) said Cheasty had co-operated fully in the month-long investigation leading to Hoffa's arrest. Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Cheasty worked as "a double agent."

The FBI said that when Hoffa was seized, "he had in his possession documents from the committee files which he had just received . . . and which were very important."

Hoffa was freed in $25,000 bond pending a hearing before the commissioner March 28. The FBI said it also had arrested Hyman I. Fischbach, 47, a Miami lawyer, on bribery charges. Mrs. Dorothy P. Dopesescu, Hoffa's secretary, was taken into custody as a material witness.

Hoffa, a short, heavy set man, is reputed to be the real power in the teamsters union, which claims 1,500,000 members.

JAMES R. HOFFA

Not only does he head the Central States Conference, but he also controls the teamster organization in the South and along a large part of the U.S. east coast.

In Seattle, Dave Beck, president of the teamsters union, said "I can't conceive that he (Hoffa) would do such a thing." He declined to say more.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Come swiftly, O Lord, to the dark moments when we are lost. Make us aware of Thy presence. Strengthen us to resist the urges and pulls to deeper darkness. Stir us to move away from the dark moments of sinfulness toward the light of Thy forgiveness. Come quickly, O Lord, as we call—or forget to call—and keep Thou close to us and keep us close to Thee for this day and night and as far as the days and nights stretch before us; through Christ, Amen.

No, dear, "Man an' Superman" was on at th' Royal Theatre, not at th' Legislative Buidin'.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

As Session Drags Tempers Shorten

Signs of restlessness are beginning to show in the legislature as the end of the current session approaches and many believe it will wind up at the end of next week.

Members swing to and fro in their swivel chairs, drum on their desks with nervous fingers, wander in and out of the chamber and upstairs into the parliamentary restaurant.

Tempers, too, are getting shorter.

Gagliardi Accustomed to Opposition Insults

"I resent that," cried Mr. Gagliardi leaping to his feet, "although I am used to insults from the other side of the House."

Three members jumped to their feet and started talking simultaneously when W. J. Asselstine (SC-Atlin) had the floor during the heated debate on the Stewart-Cassiar Road.

'King Alcohol' an Insidious Character

"Old King Alcohol is an insidious character," he said. "The more you get acquainted with him the better you like him. Familiarity, in his case, does not breed contempt."

Mr. Tisdale added the usual rider that he was not speaking from experience. No member of the House ever seems to admit to such experience.

Tom Uphill, the ever lively 83-year-old member for Fernie, spoke of his moderation last week and George Gregory (Liberal-Victoria) told the House his interest in the alcoholic strength of liquor sold in B.C. was "purely amateur."

Urging long-range plans

him during Wednesday's night sitting.

But a few minutes later the ebullient minister got up while someone else was talking and refused to sit down until he was ordered to by Mr. Speaker Irwin.

Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook) concluded a speech on education by saying, "Well, that is all."

"Are you sure?" asked Mr. Gagliardi.

"Obviously the minister of highways is not interested in education," Mr. Nimsick snorted.

Order! bellowed Mr. Speaker Irwin, in such a loud voice that all four members flopped back into their chairs, including Mr. Asselstine.

The Speaker then motioned to Mr. Asselstine to proceed.

John Tisdale (SC-Saanich) has philosophical notions about drink and conveyed one or two of them to the House.

for education, plump, good-humored Mr. Nimsick raised a laugh by saying: "Remember there will still be children 20 or 30 years from now... that is," he added, "unless we change our ways."

Quoting the poets seems to be a favorite indulgence among members this session.

Adapting Shakespeare to his own uses, he chided the government with:

"Methinks the ministers do protest their innocence too much."

protest their innocence too much.

Beware: Albino Alice Likes Meat--Any Kind

If you see a white whale, don't stroke it.

"Sudsing" around local waters at present is Albino Alice, a vicious two-ton mammal who'd as soon chew the child as cough.

This is the word from provincial museum director Dr. Clifford Carl, who says Alice, belonging to the whale species unlaughingly called "killer," will.

Alice was sighted Tuesday by AB Jack Lindgren of HMCS James Bay in Ganges Harbor.

She's cruised Pacific waters for about 10 years and been sighted about 50 times.

Alice and her black brothers and sisters like meat, of any description. They even attack other whales, ripping out their tongues as a delicacy.

But she's of value biologically. One black whale looks much like another black whale, but not Alice, pure as the driven surf.

Movements of whales can be studied with considerable accuracy.

"Please suggest that other people who see Alice let us know," said Dr. Carl.

Alice is about 20 feet long and is believed to have recently had a baby—a black one.

DIRECTOR-STAR BRILLIANT

Times Drama Critic

As on their previous visit, little more than a year ago, Canadian Players turned from Shakespeare to Shaw, Wednesday night, and scored an unqualified triumph.

The pungent Shavian satire, "Man and Superman," was given an expert, crisply-styled performance that kept a sell-out Royal Theatre audience crackling with laughter and applause throughout its nearly three-hour length.

Shedding a brilliant light over the entire production was director-star Douglas Campbell. As the irascible revolutionary and fugitive from the jungle of women, Jack Tanner, Campbell turned in a performance that was top-of-the-tree in every respect.

CUNNING

A turn of his body, a movement of the foot, a tilt of an eyebrow, was often as telling a comment as some of Shaw's own quips. In the cunning use of timing for emphasis, in sustained brilliance of character.

U.K. Shipyards Will Support Arbitration

LONDON (Reuters) — Ship-

building employers agreed today to submit a union wage claim to arbitration, provided 200,000 workers call off a nationwide strike scheduled to begin at noon Saturday.

Labor Minister Iain Macleod told the House of Commons the employers had stipulated the union must also agree to submit to arbitration its demands for a 10 per cent wage increase.

Earlier today, the Shipbuilding Employers' Federation asked Macleod to meet with them. He drove to their offices from a cabinet meeting, called to discuss the strike which could cost Britain millions of dollars worth of contracts.

UNION OPPOSED

Union leaders have already told Macleod they can not accept his arbitration plan, and want a definite pay offer from the owners.

Over the shipyard situation loomed the greater threat of a strike by 2,500,000 workers in the general engineering industries who are demanding a similar raise.

Leaders of the giant Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering unions, which is organizing both wage demands, meet Friday to decide how to handle the larger stoppage.

They may call for strikes at selected targets or order a national shutdown.

Cost of the pay claims is estimated at more than $110,000,000 a year. Employers, who say that prices must be cut and not increased if Britain's export position is to improve, appear determined to challenge the unions.

Crown Zellerbach

Company Mark

VANCOUVER—Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited today reported that its sales in 1956 reached an all-time high of $79,474,192, 7 per cent over 1955, but that its net income of $9,924,219 was only 0.4 per cent above the previous year.

In his annual report to share owners, president Peter T. Sinclair, attributed the "retarded earnings" to "increased costs, a weaker lumber market, and a substantial exchange penalty on sales paid for in U.S. currency owing to the premium position of the Canadian dollar."

The company's pulp and paper mills at Ocean Falls, 350 miles north of Vancouver, and at Elk Falls on Vancouver Island, produced a record 291,285 tons of paper, paperboard and kraft pulp for sale, an increase of 16.2 per cent over 1955.

This increase reflected the first production of kraft pulp for sale at the expanded Elk Falls mill, general speed-up of paper machines, and improved operating efficiencies, the report said.

The No. 1 newsprint machine at Elk Falls, for instance, was brought up to an output of 320 tons daily.

Ship Collision in Atlantic Fog Sends Refugees Back to Europe

THE HAGUE (CP)—The Dutch steamship Waterman, bound for Halifax and New York with 400 passengers, collided in North Atlantic fog early today with the Italian freighter Merit. The Waterman messenger said she had a hole above her waterline at the stern and was returning to Rotterdam.

Neither vessel was considered in immediate danger. Dirkswagens shipping agency in Rotterdam said the Waterman also messaged: "All well on board and weather conditions satisfactory."

The 9,177-ton Waterman—carrying 312 Hungarian refugees who will make their homes in Canada and 450 Dutch emigrants destined for Canada and the United States—is operated by the Holland-American Line. The 7,174-ton Merit sails out of Genoa.

The vessels collided at a position about 500 miles southwest of Ireland. The Waterman was three days out from Rotterdam when they hit.

The Waterman advised vessels in the vicinity that she would not require assistance after earlier sending out an SOS.

Nearing the half-way mark in campaigning, Red Cross Society has collected a total of $20,225 in this area. The goal for March, "Red Cross Month," is $79,500.

IN PARLIAMENT

Farm Loans Spark Lively Exchange

(From Times News Services)

Opposition parties in the House believe the government intends to raise the 5-per-cent maximum interest allowed for government-guaranteed bank loans on farm-stored grain.

Spokesmen for the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties voiced their predictions as the House debated a resolution, preceding introduction of a bill, to double the amount of individual loans to $3,000.

The loans plan, due to expire June 1, would be renewed for the period between Sept. 1 and June 1, 1958.

Trade Minister Howe, who as minister responsible for grain marketing introduced the resolution, said the maximum rate of interest—now five per cent—would be fixed later by the cabinet.

It was not the time now, far in advance of Sept. 1, to set the interest rate. But it would be a "favorable" rate once it is fixed.

Tory Calls for Reduction

Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary North) called for a reduction of the present rate. He said it is apparent from the terms of the resolution that a boost is in the offing.

"This move is going to be very badly received by the farmers of Western Canada," Mr. Harkness said.

Mr. Howe said that during the 1955-56 crop year, grain producers borrowed slightly less than $8,000,000. As of Jan. 31, 1957, the volume of outstanding loans was less than $4,000,000.

Social Credit whip Victor Quelch, member for Acadia, Alta., and James A. Smith (SC-Battle River-Camrose) said they also believe that the rate will be increased. Otherwise, why did the government not announce it now?

CCF speakers said bank loans should be replaced with a plan for cash advances to farmers on their farm-stored grain. They said the government's new proposals would do little to help the average farmer.

H. A. Bryson (CCF-Humboldt-Melfort) said Mr. Howe's statement a few weeks ago that he would withdraw the resolution if debate on it lasted more than a day is proof "that he has no faith in it." The House still was debating the measure when it adjourned at 6 p.m.

Mr. Howe said he has seldom sponsored legislation which has the unanimous support of every farm organization.

"The three wheat pools, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the United Farmers and a great number of local organizations have asked that this bill be passed and have asked in the exact terms in which the bill is being passed."

"That is certainly not my information," Mr. Harkness said. Mr. Harkness said the opposition wants the government to introduce cash advances for farm-stored grain. This was the only method which would ensure that farmers would have sufficient funds to meet harvesting expenses and carry them through the winter.

The Senate heard complaints Wednesday about the way the Canadian Farm Loan Board makes loans to farmers.

A Liberal and several Progressive Conservative senators voiced criticism as the Upper House considered amendments to the Farm Loan Board Act. Their main effect will be to increase to $80,000,000 from $60,000,000 the maximum amount the treasury may advance the board to make loans.

Senator F. W. Gershaw (L-Alberta) said the board is too cautious and its appraisals of property for loan purposes often take months. In some dry areas needy farmers were denied loans.

PRESIDENT BATISTA... foils assassins.

Death Toll 40 in Bloody Cuba Revolt

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Tank-backed troops have wiped out a bold student attempt to capture or kill President Fulgencio Batista in fighting that took an estimated 40 lives.

The government said the entire island was calm early today. A curfew, imposed after the assault on the presidential palace in the heart of Havana, was lifted Wednesday night. Citizens and tourists moved about as usual in bars, restaurants and night clubs.

Armored cars and tanks, which remained near the palace, Batista's office and residence, were the only open signs of trouble that erupted violently Wednesday afternoon.

Airline flights between Miami and Havana, cancelled when the shooting started, were expected to resume today.

There was no official announcement of arrests but it was evident that police were carrying out an intensive search for participants. In addition to the 40 persons reported killed, an estimated 60 were wounded.

The dead included tourist Peter Korenda of Clifton, N.J. A stray bullet killed him as he watched the battle from a hotel balcony.

The uprising was the first violent outbreak in Havana against Batista's five-year rule, although Cuba has been smoldering with revolutionary sentiment for months.

Ike Drops Hint Queen's Visit To U.S. Assured

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—Official circles Wednesday read between the lines of a comment by President Eisenhower to decide that a visit to the U.S. by the Queen and Prince Philip in the fall—probably October—is assured.

Eisenhower was asked at a press conference if he had any comment to make on reports that such a visit has been arranged. He replied that nothing has gone far enough to enable him to comment now.

He added that he never discusses state visits unless arrangements have been completed.

Accidents Cost U.S. Nearly $11 Billion

BOSTON (AP)—The Institute for Safer Living says that if all accidents could be eliminated in the United States for one year, the money saved could build 1,000,000 new single-family houses. The institute, sponsored by the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, estimated Tuesday accidents last year cost $10,800,000,000.

Military Rebels Complete Coups As Indonesia Premier Resigns

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Leftist Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo resigned today. President Sukarno proclaimed a "state of war and siege," in effect recognizing rebel military leaders, and summoned them to Jakarta for talks.

The rebels have staged four bloodless coups in less than three months, taking over control of virtually all of this 3,000-island republic except Java. They defied the central government and demanded Sastroamidjojo's resignation, while generally pledging loyalty to Sukarno.

Both north and central Sumatra revolted in December. They were followed last week by East Indonesia—the Celebes, Timor, the lesser Sundas, Flores and Bali. South Sumatra joined the movement last Saturday. On Tuesday the local army commander and Jakarta-appointed governor rejected the national government's authority on Borneo, Indonesia's largest island, and set up a revolutionary council.

The out-going government had lasted less than a year, although Sastroamidjojo had a previous term as premier in 1953-55.

Sastroamidjojo stepped down at a meeting in the presidential palace also attended by chiefs of the army, navy and air force.

Sukarno's emergency proclamation formally delegated governing authority to the district military commanders, who had already seized it in their four rebellions.

Canada's imports of rice totalled 25,000 tons in the first half of 1956, an increase of 17 per cent over the previous year.

Look Who's Talking

MR. Diefenbaker is quite right in saying that the Federal Government's huge expenditures are a powerful inflationary pressure since they represent nothing but a demand for goods and services in competition with the private consumer. The same thing has been said here many times. But observe who is saying it now.

Mr. Diefenbaker happens to be the leader of the Conservative Party. At its convention last December the Conservative Party wrote a platform, to which Mr. Diefenbaker subscribed. And that platform, if carried into effect, would vastly increase the expenditures of the Federal Government.

The Conservative Party and its leader call for large, unspecified increases in old-age and other pensions; for greatly increased federal subsidies to the provinces; for parity farm prices involving incalculable new subsidies to farmers; and for national hospital insurance.

These items, and others, would add up to a pretty penny, though no one knows their total, of course, since Mr. Diefenbaker and the platform refuse to cite definite figures. At all events, if the Conservative Party's policy were enforced the Federal Government would raise its spending, would soon eliminate its revenue surplus and either raise taxes or finance on deficits. Assuredly it would demand still more from the total supply of goods and services and thus aggravate the inflationary pressure.

Mr. Diefenbaker intimates, however, that he would balance his increased spending by spartan economies. That is encouraging but precisely what economies does he have in mind? What public service would he reduce? What government department would he whittle down?

In the budget debate now opening at Ottawa Mr. Diefenbaker will have his chance to tell us where he would cut spending to compensate for the gigantic increases proposed by him and his party. Every taxpayer interested in taxes, every citizen interested in prices will hope that Mr. Diefenbaker, having himself raised these questions, will now answer them.

No Poetry, No Licence

THE LEGISLATURE'S ATTENTION has again been drawn to the grave charges leveled by Mr. R. E. Sommers against certain British Columbians when the member for Rossland-Trail resigned from the cabinet last year.

The government seems anxious to dissociate itself from those remarks. Perhaps they should be recalled.

On February 27, 1956, the retiring minister felt constrained to "break my silence on a matter which has been bruited about in this House in a most irresponsible and reprehensible manner, and which has been the subject of the most dirty and slanted news coverage in the history of British Columbia."

With that introduction, and with special reference to the Victoria Daily Times, the minister went on to say that he and his department had been subjected to an increasingly bitter attack the ultimate objective of which "is to wipe out all the legislation that provides for government control in the cutting of our forests."

"The stakes are large enough," he said, "to warrant the hundreds of thousands of dollars that have been invested in this campaign of destruction in the past three and one-half years."

After citing the former member for Lillooet (Mr. Gordon Gibson) and "his logging adherents," Mr. Sommers stated, "these people—under the leadership of the honorable second member for Vancouver-Point Grey (Liberal Leader Arthur Laing)—have resorted to a campaign of distortion, falsehoods and vilification that is without parallel in the political annals of this great province."

At another point he said his critics "have tried to mislead the public through direct mis-statements."

So spoke Mr. Sommers as he resigned from the cabinet on February 27 last year.

This week in the legislature Mr. Gordon Dowding, (CCF, Burnaby), asked if the former minister's charges had not been investigated because the government considered them "nonsense."

Attorney-General Bonner replied: "I think a considerable amount of poetic licence might have gone into the expression of those charges."

Does Mr. Sommers agree with the view of his former colleague?

Certainly Mr. Bonner, by his "poetic licence" statement has cut the ground from under Mr. Sommers. As a man of honor, does Mr. Sommers stand by his charges, or does he withdraw them?

Is Mr. Bonner attempting to fob off with a glib phrase charges so serious against men as late as honorable as Mr. Sommers? Or would he care to spell out exactly what "poetic licence" means in this case?

Surely There Are Enough

THE PESSIMISM OF MR. G. K. Sammon, chairman of the Victoria-Esquamalt Union Board of Health, regarding the success of a fluoridation vote in this area, may not be without cause. He is afraid that a successful vote will not come for a "long, long time." But there is reason to hope that the community, when a public issue is properly presented to it, can muster a 60 per cent majority for a necessary improvement.

This was so in the case of the schools by-law, although the margin was barely adequate. The value of fluoridation is so obvious, the wealth of favorable statistics so overwhelming, the line-up of responsible dental and medical opinion so complete, that it is difficult to see how any city can long deliberately postpone the step.

The crack-pot protesters against "rat poison," the health-food faddists who carry their theories to the point of fanaticism, the murky pseudo-scientific fringe that makes a living by blatantly opposing the continent's medical societies—these, of course, will always be against progress in fighting disease. Their counterparts fought the introduction of antiseptics, vaccination and all the other medical advances now proved by time.

But to say that these elements will amount to 40 per cent of a voting population is to take a more than usually poor view of human intelligence. Surely there are enough physicians, dentists and parents in the community to put a fluoridation measure through. And these quite apart from all those citizens who would not be swayed by adverse criticism that becomes psychiatric in its bitterness, but would approach the question in a normal enquiring frame of mind and be convinced by the weight of expert evidence in its favor.

As medical authorities point out, delay in inaugurating fluoridation is at the expense of the children whose teeth must suffer. It is also at the very real expense of parents who must pay dental bills to correct the deficiency. Let local service clubs and other official and private agencies get together on this question, see that the public is fully informed, and then let us get on with the job.

Well over 30 million people on this continent now use fluoridated water and reap its benefits. More are added each year. Why are we behind?

Beauty by the Month

CANADIAN ARTISTS HAVE RECEIVED high tribute from an expert who should know whereof he speaks. Mr. Andrew Ritchie, the chief curator for the New York Museum of Modern Art, says in Ottawa that he has found an unexpected vitality, variety and maturity in post-war Canadian painting.

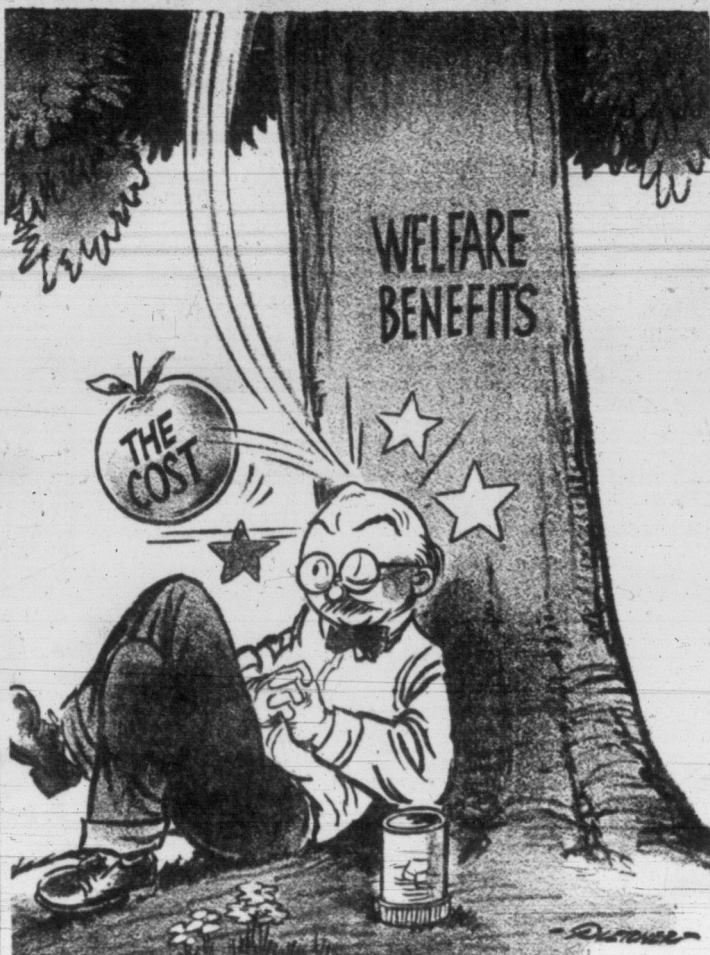

The United States, says Mr. Ritchie, "tends to be rather ignorant of Canadian painting." To which might be added the observation that Canada in general shares the tendency.

One of the ways in which that tendency may be overcome by the public is to take advantage of opportunities to become more familiar with the product of Canadian artists. Such an opportunity will shortly be presented by the Greater Victoria Arts Centre, when a collection of nearly 100 Canadian paintings will be made available to Victorians on a rental basis.

Chosen pictures may be "borrowed" for a small fee and hung in the home of the borrower for a month. The plan has been successful in other communities and should arouse considerable interest here when it is inaugurated on April 1.

The Better Life?

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Young Man's Fancy

If you have tears prepare to shed them now for my young friend, Mr. Brian Tobin, who has been wounded—fatally, I fear—by the first arrow of spring. This cruel laceration was recently revealed by Mr. Tobin in print and therefore, unlike the more important aspects of government business, is a legitimate subject of public discussion. My friend's vernal prose poem (technically a very fine one) must meet the test of literary criticism, which is beyond my scope, and then the test of hard facts, which are all too familiar to me.

Hutchison

I am only on the basis of hard facts that I presume to discuss my friend's seasonal explosion. All Mr. Tobin's literary charm cannot hide those facts or put the atoms of his shattered spirit together again. To be sure, being young, he does not know that yet, but he will find out.

He has heard the frogs singing at night and reeled to bed, innocently intoxicated by sound. He has risen with a literary hangerover, sniffed the spring air and, in a second intoxication, reeled to his office and dizzily pecked out on his typewriter the memory of a dream.

He will wake up any day now. The facts will bring him to a sudden, chilling sobriety. His next essay on spring will not be a poem. It will be an agony and a libel. It won't be fit to print in a family journal.

AS an apprentice gardener, just entering this last tragic phase of life, Mr. Tobin will presently discover the hardest facts of all, the facts of the earth.

Probably, like many men of his age, he imagines that, having dug his earth, he is finished with it. (Perhaps he has not even dug it yet, but I do not inquire about so personal a matter, even among close friends.) In any case, he has not finished with the earth, nor the earth with him.

If Mr. Tobin sobs up a few days from now and observes the smooth, immaculate earth dug by his hand he will note an interesting development. Certain green particles will appear on the black bosom of the planet.

THESE, Mr. Tobin, are Nature's own children, though men call them weeds, and, being a gardener and hence an enemy of Nature, you will kill them. You will be a confirmed and reasonably skilled murderer by mid-summer. You will not be writing poems. You will be killing the earth's darlings.

That is the first hard fact. There are others.

Invisible to you, and deeply loved by nature, a countless horde of caterpillars, moths, flies, bugs and weevils are even now preparing to hatch out and ruin all your work. Unimaginable billions of microscopic spores and ravenous fungi are awakening with an unheard shout and shortly will attack your fruit trees, roses, shrubs and perennials.

You will turn from your typewriter, cold sober now, and pick up a spraying machine and, with luck, will deposit one-tenth of its evil-smelling lime and sulphur on your garden, nine-tenths on yourself; you will return to your house at dusk bearing the aroma of ancient eggs; and you will not be popular in the family circle.

OR consider the peculiarly hard fact of a soft green lawn. Anyone, you may suppose, can have a fine lawn in this genial climate for the mere cost of cutting it now and then. (Permit me, sir, at this point, a moment of fiendish laughter.)

Probably, like most beginners, you have invested more money in gardening books than in lawn seed, have read the gardening hints in the newspapers and, reclining in a deck chair, soothed by the winds of spring, have waited for your lawn to surge up around you, according to the best professional advice. (I pause here for a moment of remorse and station identification. Are you listening, Mr. Tobin?)

WELL, you don't have much time to listen. That long shaft of wood and its metal attachment, though you can hardly know it yet, is a rake, preferably a rake with sharp, piercing points. This you will take into your soft hands and apply to the lawn.

Thereupon you will find to your amazement that a lawn in this country is not composed mainly of grass. It is mostly moss, and moss, though the darling of Nature, its most vigorous and indestructible child, is your life's enemy, certain to outlast you, even if you should live as long as the Liberal Government in Ottawa.

Take rake in hand, therefore, and attack the moss and in half an hour you will have amassed a towering pile of green stuff which you will set aside as future compost and, if you are wise, will bury yourself in it and save trouble later on.

Oh, I could set down here a thousand other hard facts for your consideration but it will be better for you to discover them for yourself, by gentle degrees. Meanwhile, breathe deep the sweet anaesthetic of spring. Your blessed unconsciousness will be short, and when the operation is finished you, like all gardeners of twisted back and ruined physique, will never walk upright again. You will not be able even to reach the keys of your typewriter. By next year you will be writing your ode with a spade, and calling it a spade, too.

As Our Readers See It

Unprepared

Having been an enrolled volunteer member of Civil Defence for the past 18 months and a regular attendant at the Monday night meetings, and knowing what Civil Defence is trying to do for the people, I was very pleased to read Mr. Gregory's remarks in the B.C. Legislature concerning the state of civil defence. I notice that he puts the blame for any unpreparedness in an emergency on public apathy.

If the people of Greater Victoria take no more notice of the plans made for their safety and survival than related by Mr. Gregory to the Legislature, then what is the use of Civil Defence trying to do anything for them? Fortunately a few people do realize their responsibility and understand the danger and the need for training and preparedness. Civil Defence in Greater Victoria has a nucleus of such trained people around which an organization could be built. But it is not enough—more trained men and women are needed to ensure smooth operation of survival plans.

I am amazed that people could be so indifferent or so unmindful of the possible dangers as to neglect to study the instructions contained in our survival booklet and be prepared to carry them out should any emergency necessitate such a drastic course.

RODERICK STEWART,
219 Wildwood Avenue.

Dedicated

As far as I can make out the Saanich Council wish to sell the "Gore" War Memorial Park for an oily thirty pieces of silver.

The fact that a council would have the effrontery to consider such a move, even though permitted by a legal technicality causes one to question the council's wisdom, and obvious lack of judgment.

The time is long past that such a spot re-zoning should have been necessary. We have an example of a store at Ralston Crescent, erected over the protests of the neighbors, within a short distance of an established centre; we have CHEK-TV, erected over the protests of its neighbors; and now we have this desecration of a war memorial, being attempted.

Why is it not possible for one council to rectify an oversight of a predecessor and let it go at that?

Isn't it just about time that a little honest effort was put into drawing up zoning regulations that would permit "progress" and still give protection to those who had made prior investments? In this particular case the "investment" represents the lives of those who did not come back from the conflict of 1914-18. I agree with Mr. Horner wholeheartedly in that what was dedicated as a memorial should remain as a memorial, and not be tossed about as some national holidays are.

GREGORY C. COOK.

Letters on 'An Open Letter'

Many Thanks

Many thanks Victoria Daily Times for the prominent publication of an open letter to Mr. Wenner-Gren. Keep up the good work. Side by side with this is a more intimate description of the Swedish tycoon who is here to talk over the big scheme.

In this he states "Our intentions are straight forward." He states also, "I have given $25,000,000 to charity. I want nothing for myself." He hopes "the monorail system of railroad will be developed." He owns that system in Germany. "Of course," he added, "I must have something for my investment" and again, "I can't take it to my grave."

In one of these articles he appears as mediator for Hermann Goering but misstates the cause of the sinking of the Athenia. He was blacklisted by both the U.K. and the U.S.A. for his activities in the last war. Has he any knowledge of where his wealth came from?

Many things he wants forgotten by us. Things like this upset the stomach.

S. SMITH,
1408 Walnut St.

Congratulations

May I congratulate both the publisher and editor on the Open Letter of Monday night's edition.

It was the best presentation of facts by a wonderful journalist that I have ever read and I am an old man and I have covered a lot of this continent.

FROM PARIS

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Freedom and Unfreedom

THE most useful advice that this reporter received in Moscow came from the most brilliant of the foreign observers stationed there. "For God's sake," he said, "remember that this place isn't either '1984' or a banana republic. It isn't '1984' because it's a human society, may be not a very nice human society, but still a human society with its own built-in human problems. And it isn't a banana republic because in most ways this is a strong society, and it isn't going to be thrown by its problems—at any rate in the foreseeable future."

In Washington, where the "1984" view of the Soviet Union used to be too common, the leaders of the government now seem to have swung wildly over to the banana republic view. So the above warning needs repeating before one tries to analyze what is probably the most profound Soviet problem.

This problem is currently expressed in the ferment among Soviet students and intellectuals.

Ever since the 20th Party Congress last year, Soviet intellectuals have been reaching greedily out for a much larger measure of creative freedom in writing, in the theatre, in painting, indeed in all the departments of art and thought.

Sharp Expression

By the same token, the university students, especially in the great centres like Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev, have been talking very freely among themselves. From time to time, they have even given rather sharp public expression to their new found, Gomulka-like views by asking embarrassing questions at lectures, by holding demonstrations, and in other ways that would have been unthinkable in the past.

The regime's concern about the "excesses" of the intellectuals can be detected in the impassioned defences of "Socialist realism" and the fervid attacks on its attackers which have been appearing in the Soviet press.

The regime's concern about students has also been revealed. For instance, an entire issue of "Young Communist" was recently devoted to warnings against "young people, members of the Young Communist League among them, who give in to the demagoguery of bourgeois propaganda" and criminally believe in "tales about the freedom of individuals" in non-Communist countries.

Among students, particularly, disciplinary measures also seem to have been used. Some students have almost certainly been dismissed—and this means a lot in a country where a university training is the only escape route from the grey existence of the great grey mass at the bottom of the pyramid. There also seem to have been a few discreet arrests in extreme cases.

Such are the fairly well established facts. The question is what to make of them. If the wisest Moscow analysts are to be trusted, the answer is curiously complex.

In brief, the right way to see the ferment among the students and intellectuals is not as a central Soviet problem at the present time, but as the by-product of still another problem.

This is the problem the Soviet leaders are trying to solve by their truly staggering planned shakeup of the whole Soviet industrial economy. In fact it is the problem of running a high technical society.

As has been suggested before in this series of reports, you can build a high technical society with the knot, Joseph Stalin did just that—but you cannot develop and expand and amplify a high technical society with the knot.

Sense of Freedom

At a certain stage, all the key persons, industrial managers, scientists, technicians, engineers of all sorts, need a sense of being free to make decisions and communicate among themselves and assume responsibilities without danger of reprisal. That is the only way to go on building toward still higher goals.

In some sense at least, this need for more freedom has been recognized and met by the Soviet leadership. There is more freedom today in the Soviet Union. And precisely because there is more freedom in general, the intellectuals and students, the two specially irrepressible groups throughout modern Russian history, have been thereby emboldened.

In effect, they were given an inch. They took an ell. And now they are being pushed back to two inches, by exhortation and by disciplinary measures which have thus far been relatively mild if they are judged by the grim standards of the Soviet past.

That is where the matter rests for the present.

One has to say "for the present," however, because of the very nature of this problem of freedom versus unfreedom.

Chilly Silence

On the one hand, the regime would have to restore Stalin-style discipline in order to restore the chilly, universal silence of the Stalin era. But as long as thinking Soviet citizens go on freely talking among themselves, as they still do, the boredom and discontent with the endless, gossamer Communist uplift, the prevailing puritanism and the officially sponsored dreariness, will continue and increase.

But on the other hand, Stalin-style discipline cannot be easily restored, partly because there is no Stalin, but also because Stalinism's restoration would freeze Soviet society, preventing the free growth of wealth and power and productivity that the leaders want.

There is the dilemma. It is a long-range dilemma. It does not endanger the regime. But it quite probably—one is tempted to say almost certainly—means that in fits and starts, with many retreats as well as advances, this strange Soviet society will go on evolving as it has been evolving in the last four years.

Jack and Jill

THIS column strikes me as having been rather high-falutin' lately. So let's descend to a lower plane today, and have a little fun with Jack and Jill.

In Victoria, you're bound to know them. They're in their sixties, and they've been struggling up the Matrimonial Hill for over 30 years.

At times, the course of their true-love still runs a trifle rough in a mildly irritated kind of way. It's very different from the old days when fits of temper used to alternate with bouts of making up and making love.

Nowadays, there are no words of whispered passion. Instead, at bedtime, they say things like, "What about the cat, dear?" and "Did you put out the dog?" For the children are grown up and gone, you see. It's many, many years since Jill used to sit up suddenly in the middle of the night and say, "Listen, is that the baby crying?"

It's many years since Jill used to lie awake torn with anxiety because the young folk were so late coming home from the dance.

There were times in those years when Jack and Jill used to long for a little peace and quiet. But now, with the perversity of human nature, they often wish that they could have a little young life in the house.

They'd find it tiring, though, and just a bit upsetting. Because there's no doubt that they have grown just a little set in their ways.

Jill always uses certain pots and pans for cooking. She always takes the dog for a walk at a certain time. She always plumps the cushions and empties the ash trays before she goes to bed.

Ruth

And Jack is apt to say, as he's said time and time again, that he's never known anyone who took so long to get to bed.

But he's set, too. He always puts his spectacles in a special place on the mantelpiece. When the English papers come, he always tears the wrapper off in exactly the same way. He always likes his cup of tea before he goes to bed. And he has quite strong ideas about warming the teapot.

He hates to miss the 10 o'clock news even though he knows that, word for word, it'll be exactly what he heard a few hours earlier.

To young, irreverent ears a lot of their conversation is deadly dull. They talk of death and taxes, and how the taxes are going up every year, and how, these days, if you have any money saved, someone always has his hand in your pocket trying to get it out. Naturally, they grumble about the governments, federal and provincial. The city council is often in hot water. The school board's ideas are quite fantastic.

Often, they're quite shocked by the depravity of their contemporaries. Jack will say, "I saw old So and So today. Getting pretty shaky." And Jill will say, "Well, I met Mary Smith in town. She's aged a lot in recent months."

Though they hate to admit that they, too, are aging, Jack does say periodically that he'll have to get his glasses checked again—because the print in the paper is getting smaller. (But the garden is growing larger! "The place is getting much too big for us, my dear. We'll have to get some help.")

Yes, that's Jack and Jill. I'm not laughing at them, truly. I'm just enjoying them. Because sometimes in my darker moments, I can see the shape of what I'll be in the years to come!

YOUR HEALTH

Baldness

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

People write asking how to cure baldness or how to get their hair to grow in again after some or all of it has dropped out. Books on skin diseases list a number of preparations which can be rubbed on the top of the head, but the authors do not claim much for them. In some cases massage of the scalp which for a few minutes brings in more blood might help a bit. In some cases of dandruff, the keeping of the scalp clean will help.

The difficulty, of course, is that once a hair follicle has been badly injured by disease or destroyed by some disease or by atrophy, it is never going to grow a new hair no matter what anyone does to it.

The most important fact that I ever learned about baldness is that when the hair comes out in comb-falls one should figure back just three months. Often, then, the person will say, "Yes, that's right; just three months ago I had a serious fever, or a terrible fright, or a nervous breakdown, or a baby." Why is the hair coming out three months later? Because, after each hair died it took three months for a new hair to push it out. Usually such a person becomes panicky and rushes to a doctor, or a beauty parlor, or to a hair-quack.

If I were to lose my hair three months after a fever, or a mental shock, I would save my money; I would wait patiently to see if new hairs came in. If they didn't, then I could get worried. But even then I doubt if I would do anything because I would know of nothing very promising to do. I could rub medicines into my scalp but I would not expect them to do much, if any, good. Years ago in my thirties, when I was slowly losing my hair, I read big books on the scalp and hair, and wound up deciding that even the experts knew very little.

HORMONES USELESS

Evidently the sex glands have much to do with the hairiness of the scalp and body, but unfortunately, so far, we doctors have not been able to put hair on certain persons or to take it off others by giving any of the sex hormones.

TUBERCULOSIS STILL A PROBLEM

Today, many physicians feel that tuberculosis in man has almost disappeared. But unfortunately this is not true. I read now that among the 8,000,000 people residing in New York City, 24,221, known to the health authorities, have active tuberculosis. Doubtless, many more are concealing their illness, or do not know that it is tubercular in nature. Many of the persons whose cases are reported are found to have the disease in an advanced form. The cost to the city of caring for these persons is 50 million dollars a year. Obviously, people with active tuberculosis of the lungs could help their fellow men so much by not spraying the air constantly with tubercle bacilli. They should hate to be spreading death about them.

STUDY WHEN WE ARE OLD

On opening my copy of the Stanford Review, I see that Mrs. Katharine T. Davis, of the class of 1904, just received a degree of Master of Arts from the Stanford State College. Obviously, if she graduated first in 1904, she must now be 70 or older. She says she wanted to keep busy, so when her duties at home were done, she went back to college. She says she maintained a B plus average, and the only difficulty she experienced was that it took her a little longer to study and take things in than it did when she was young.

In today's mail there is a letter from a woman who is out of patience with the idea that any woman should want to find some useful work after her responsibilities are ended and she has moved out of the big house into a small apartment. My correspondent fumes at the thought of anyone in such a comfortable state being foolish enough to go hunting for a job. She thinks that any woman not soft in the head will just be happy to stretch out and rest. Doubtless, many women will feel that way, while others won't. Some will want to go on being useful, or they will find that to do nothing is horribly boring.

Perennial Borders Need Sturdy Plants

Several articles have appeared recently in gardening periodicals, bearing us for indulging in the pleasures of a perennial border.

The main theme of such articles is to point out the terrific amount of labor necessary to keep the plants staked and tied.

The writers work on the theme that we are using the wrong plants, Jack Beastall and one cites michaelmas daisies, phlox and goldenrod as "untidy and unwieldy plants, prone to flatten themselves at the first puff of wind or drop of rain."

and small plants of a shrubby nature in the foreground.

To me, this seems the wrong approach, because it eliminates all the flowering perennials we love for both their color and foliage. The only reason our plants fall over is because we grow massive clumps with weak stems.

To improve the sturdiness of growth we can use a group of three or five small clumps and still have our color and foliage effects. If we reduce each small clump to three or four stems early in the season we improve the foliage and the size and color of the flowers as well.

When the labor of staking and tying becomes too great to warrant the results, it is in a large way due to our own methods of culture.

Changing our methods to produce stronger plants of what we now grow is to be preferred to discarding our present plants and replacing them with less interesting material solely because it makes stronger growth.

CCF Asks Easier Legal Appeals, More Recompense for Jury Duty

Adoption of a method by which the average man can appeal litigation without going to the expense of hiring legal counsel was urged in the legislature Wednesday by CCF Opposition leader Robert Strachan.

"This question is looming large in people's minds," he said. "We are all of us getting embroiled with the law in one way or another and many people cannot afford lawyers' fees."

Attorney General Robert Bonner said the government is opposed on principle to interfering in civil litigation.

"Many people think I have the authority to interfere with the civil courts. I am glad I do not have that power."

He added that legal aid is extended in deserving cases by the bar of the province.

"There are few law firms in B.C. which do not accept cases for little or no fee because they believe they are doing a public service. Every day legal aid is extended to sections of the community which cannot afford court fees."

"I will admit that the cost of going to court nowadays is high."

Legal costs were raised during debate on estimates for the Attorney General's department.

During discussion on a vote of $78,831 for rehabilitation forest camps, Mr. Bonner said prisoners were sent to these camps because of a good prison record prior to being released.

Gordon Dowding (CCF-Burnaby) recommended extension of the probation system by the attorney general's department to relieve over-crowding in jails and to assist in rehabilitation.

"I would urge the government to continue its praiseworthy efforts in this direction. British Columbia's probation system is as good as any in Canada—excepting perhaps in Saskatchewan," Mr. Dowding added.

Rae Eddie (CCF-New Westminster) pleaded for better remuneration for citizens called to serve on juries in view of the rise in the cost of living since scales of pay were set up. "Jurors are required to take time off from their work, often without pay," he said. "In many cases they pay a stiffer penalty for doing their duty than the prisoner in the dock."

Another official court reporter for the city of Victoria was asked in the legislature Wednesday by Liberal member George Gregory, a city lawyer.

There is too much work for the one man now doing the job with the aid of an unpaid deputy, Mr. Gregory said during discussion of estimates for the attorney-general's department.

Mr. Bonner replied that he would wait for a request from the official reporter for another man.

That brought Mr. Gregory to his feet again, to say that he had made the same request for the last three years and didn't see why the attorney-general can't take action on his own.

Vacant House Burns

Damage Set at $50

An empty house at 351 Davida, Wednesday at 1.35 p.m. was nearly burned down when towels draped over a pipe near an overheated stove caught fire.

Only the timely return home of Mrs. E. Watson and the fact the kitchen was closed saved the house from destruction, firemen said. Damage was $50.

Emigration No Worry Says U.K. Official

A regional information officer for a United Kingdom Information Office, Dr. R. F. Brower, visited Victoria this week to disseminate information.

Asked to disseminate he goes like this:

"Britain isn't too concerned with the loss to Canada this year of some 90,000 Englishmen."

"An exceptional birthrate plus a steady stream of immigrants from Western Europe compensates, more or less," says Mr. Brower. He adds, archly, "There are many immigrants from Canada, also."

Mr. Brower is filled with conversation-stoppers. Working from his office in the Mercantile Building, 540 Burrard, Vancouver, he is available as a speaker to interested Victoria organizations.

He has numerous films on hand also, all of them available to groups through Victoria Film Council at the Public Library here.

answer any questions having to do with British affairs," he states. But queries on tourism should go to the British Travel Association in Toronto.

Questions on British imported goods should be directed to the U.K. Trade Commission in the same building in Vancouver.

But Mr. Brower can recite facts about income tax in Britain, the cost of living, pas-ports, import regulations, cultural themes and atomic power plants, as he did for the Kluwanis Club here on Tuesday.

Handsome, single and in his thirties, Mr. Brower, has a romantic background—six years war service in India and Burma, with later experience with the U.K. High Commissioner's Office in Pakistan and in Johannesburg, South Africa.

PROGRESS REPORT BY TCA

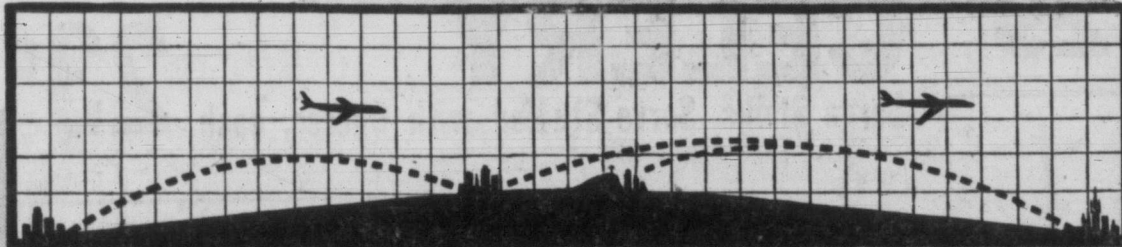

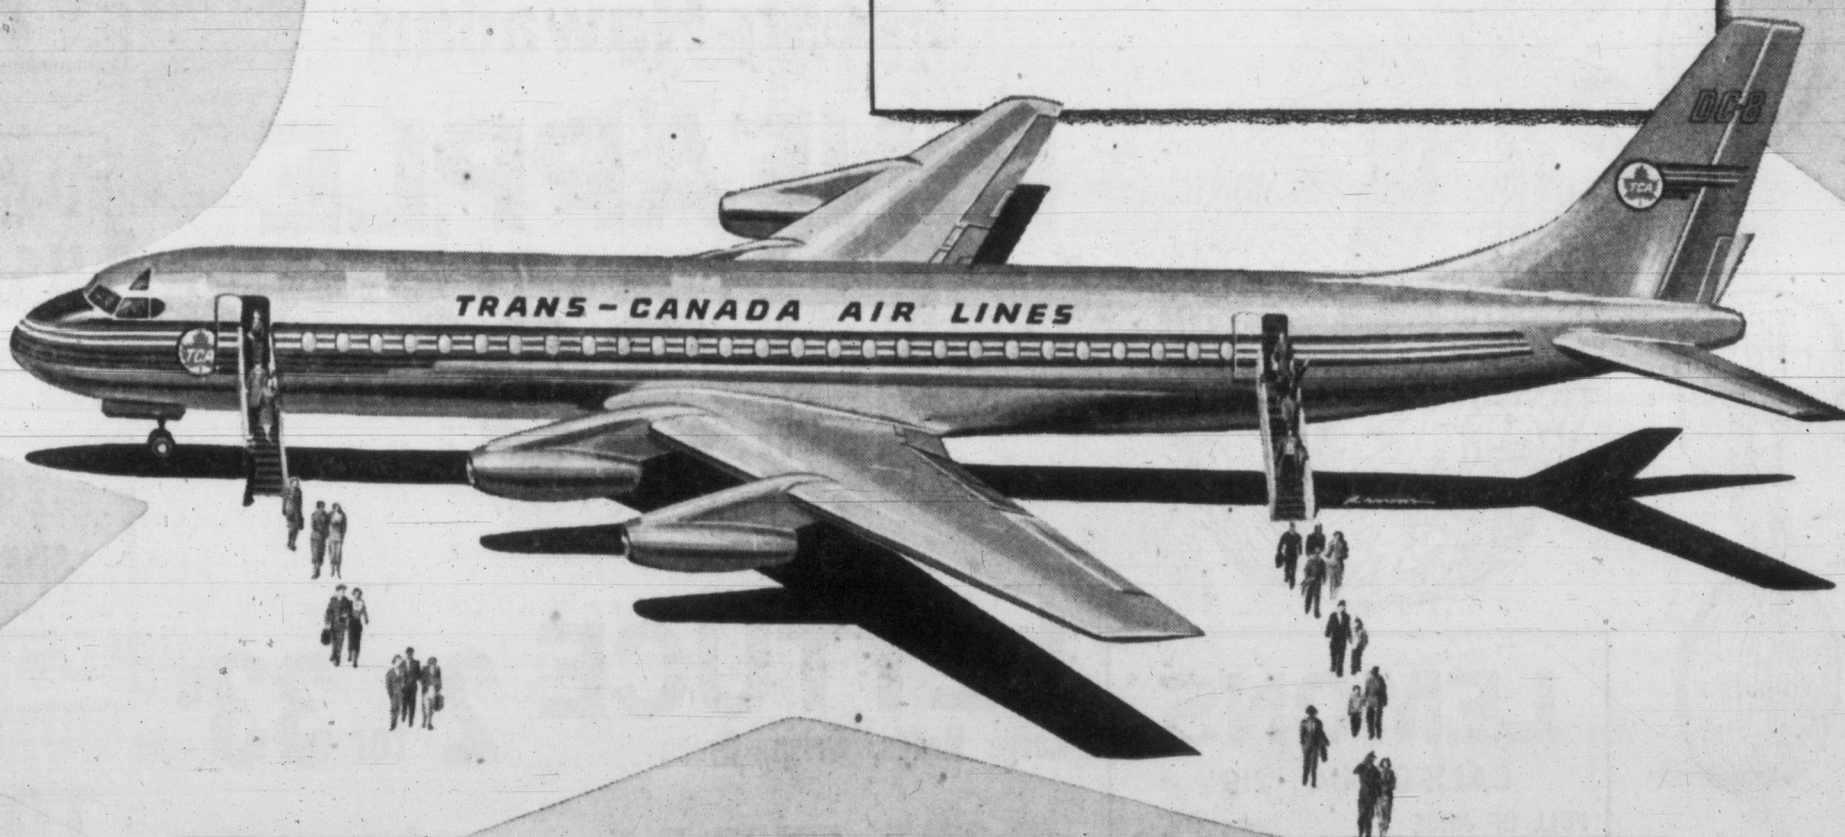

TCA plans for the JET AGE

Giant DC-8 jet-liners to bring startling advances in long-distance
air travel

A NEW WORLD OF AIR TRAVEL is on your horizon . . . the era of the jet airliner. After extensive investigation and evaluation of every type of long-range aircraft expected to be available in the next few years, TCA has ordered a fleet of intercontinental Douglas DC-8 airliners. They are to be powered by Rolls-Royce Conway turbo-jet engines.

This decision, part of TCA's planned expansion, is a major step. Each DC-8 will represent an investment of $5½ millions. The new planes are expected to enter service in 1960, and will bring dramatic changes on long-distance routes. Carrying up to 122 passengers at a cruising speed of 550 miles per hour, these big planes will cut flying times by almost half on TCA's trans-continental and trans-Atlantic routes. The DC-8's will set new standards in comfort and quiet, vibrationless flight.

1961 will see also the introduction of a fleet of prop-jet Vanguards, for service on TCA's high-density inter-city and Southern routes. With these two new types, and the famous Viscounts, TCA will become the first intercontinental airline in the world to operate an all-turbine fleet.

Specimen flying times for TCA's DC-8 jet-liners — from Vancouver to Toronto in 4 hours 10 minutes, from Montreal to London in 6 hours 10 minutes. Passengers will enjoy the fastest, most comfortable air travel yet known . . . smooth and vibration-free.

Bonner Opposes 'Governors' on B.C. Automobiles

Installation of an automatic device to control the speed of cars within the 50-mile limit on provincial highways was discussed in the legislature Wednesday.

The matter was raised by Randolph Harding (CCF-Kaslo-Slocan) who asked Attorney-General Robert Bonner whether the motor-vehicles branch had made an investigation following a suggestion made last year.

Mr. Bonner said he considered "governors" on automobiles to be dangerous, and had recommended that they be taken off U-drive cars three years ago.

Extra power and speed was often needed when passing another car, he said.

Insurance Detail For Fishermen Being Worked Out

Jack Clark, supervisor of insurance in the Victoria office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission is leaving today for Vancouver to attend a weekend course on the recent extension of the unemployment insurance coverage to include fishermen. The course will be conducted by insurance officials from head office of the commission at Ottawa.

The new regulations will come into effect on the first of April, and fishermen and their employers should contact the local office at 1039 Johnson Street regarding the necessity of registration. It is estimated that up to 375 fishermen in this area will be affected by the extended coverage.

LET DADDY WORRY ABOUT THE PLAYOFFS

While members of the Victoria Cougar hockey club were pondering their chances of reaching the Western Hockey League playoffs, a group of their offspring had more important problems Wednesday: When do we eat? ... Will Guyle blow out all the candles? ... Can we watch the Mickey Mouse Club? The occasion was the third birthday of Guyle (Sluggo) Davidson, son of Cougar defenceman Bill Davidson, and named after Seattle American ace Guyle Fielder. In on the party were, left

WHAT'S THE SCORE? BY Denny Boyd

It's no mystery to coach Colin Kilburn, the way his Victoria Cougars persist in losing games on the road. Goldfish at home, but Paisies on the road ... that has been the story of the Cougars as the league heads down to the last tension-filled days.

Had the Victoria club been able to win on the road in recent weeks, they could be picking their teeth in playoff contention, right now. As it is, they still have only a one-point lead over the Vancouver Canucks with five games to go for each club.

But Kilburn can explain the stop-go antics of his club in terms of an engine.

"We are not a team that has one outstanding scorer like a Maloney, a McLeod, a Fielder, or a Fashoway. The clubs that have those players can have an off-night but if Fielder, for instance, happens to be hot, he can win by himself.

"But our club, we have to play a team game. Being without a super-star, we can't win unless everyone pulls their weight. We're like an eight-cylinder engine. You start trying to run on six cylinders and you stall before long."

"That's the way it has been with us; we just haven't been giving 100 per cent on our road games. It always seems that some player gets a bad game out of his system on our away games. Pelletier had a bad one in Vancouver this week and we lost it."

"Other nights, Marcel is great but somebody else lets down."

Royals, Not Amerks, Big Hurdle

"There is no doubt in my mind that we'll get into the playoffs but once we are in, the players are going to have to realize that they'll have to beat this road trouble to go anywhere. If we meet the Royals in the semi-finals, we'll be playing two games over there and only one at home. We'll have to win at least one of those road games."

"And if we can beat the Royals, I think we will be in a good position to beat Seattle. I'm quite sure we could beat them in a series because we play our best road games there. Our big playoff hurdle, as I see it, would not be Seattle but New Westminster."

At any rate, the jockeying for playoff positions continues and the plot runs like this.

The Cougars have five games remaining, three at home and two on the road.

The Cougars meet Seattle here Friday night and go to New Westminster Saturday night. They host Vancouver here next Monday night, finish their home slate against the Royals March 22 and end their schedule in Seattle the following night.

The Canucks are, at home to New Westminster Friday night and travel to Seattle Saturday night.

They play here Monday night and play their last home game against Seattle March 22. They wind up their schedule at New Westminster on the 23rd.

And it is dangerously possible that the battle for the last playoff position could go right down to the last night of the schedule, with the Cougars at Seattle and the Canucks in New Westminster with a berth in the playoffs the prize.

Greaves Loses But Gets Nod From Webb

CHICAGO (AP) — Middleweight There was no doubt about Spider Webb, riding the crest of Webb's victory over Greaves, Ref. 19 straight victories, wants and Greaves scored it 49-42. 19 Greaves, a shot at the judge E. A. Frankel had it 48-41.

winner of the Sugar Ray Robin and judge Jim McManus 50-41. son-Gene Fullmer championship fight.

"I think it's about time," said Webb after scoring a unanimous 10-round decision over Wil Greaves, a hard-hitting 21-year-old Edmonton boxer who fights out of Pittsburgh, at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

"I've fought all the tough ones in the top ten," said Webb. "So I feel I should get a crack at the title and get it over with."

Robinson and champion Fullmer meet in their 15-round title bout at the Stadium May 1.

Webb, a 24-year-old Chicagoan, had a lot of praise for Greaves, who substituted for Randy Sandy at the last minute when Sandy injured his hand.

"Everyone thought Greaves would be a pushover just because he was a substitute," said Webb. "But that isn't always true. I got my start as a sub and this boy is strong, plenty strong. He hit me with some of those rights and it's a good thing I'm in shock otherwise I might not have shook them off."

THREE GAMES AT BRENTWOOD

Three basketball games, headlined by a clash between Brentwood and Cordova Bay juvenile boys' teams, are scheduled at Brentwood Community Hall Friday night.

Opening the three-game program at 7:30 will be a game between Brentwood and Sooke pre-midnight girls' squads. Brentwood bantam boys will host Cordova Bay in the second game, starting at 8:30.

Vancouver Aces Test City Pin-Grip

Allenby, a year younger and packing 170 pounds on a six-foot, two-inch frame, holds a 192 mark in Vancouver's Classic League and averages of 187 and 181 in two other leagues.

Carrying the mail for Victoria will be zone champion Ken Munn, who has blasted the pins for a 180 average this winter, and runner-up Wilbur Webb, owner of a 181 mark.

Munn improved slightly on his season's record as he averaged 182 pins per game through the 24-game Victoria zone roll-off while Webb was his usual consistent self as he matched his 181 league average.

Rounding out the seven-man field will be 50-year-old Bill Andrews of New Westminster, veteran Jack Muzzin of Nanaimo and Campbell River's Biff Ingram. No entries have been received from interior zones.

TIMES GOLF ENTRY FORM

Can Bill McColl Pull an Eric?

When smoothie Bill McColl won his second straight city medal championship Sunday, he indicated that he may be in for another of those famous McColl years.

The dapper Colwood Golf Club par-snipper scrambled back from a four-stroke deficit to win the winter medal title, first major golf tournament of the season.

And, when McColl is on his game, the championships are inclined to fall with the monotonous regularity of his bold putts.

If McColl is planning to pull off another of his tournament sweeps, one of the highest hurdles he will have to clear will be the Times Vancouver Island Open Golf Championships, which open March 31 with the qualifying round at Gorge Vale.

DOUBLES SCARCE

Island champion in 1955, when he cleaned up on every major golf title available, McColl would have to become only the second man ever to win the Island title twice to put the biggest feather in his good-luck golf cap this year.

Only Eric Hibbertson has been able to knock off the Island title twice, winning it first in 1950, the inaugural year, and then repeating in 1954.

Other former champions, all of whom are expected to challenge Hibbertson's "double" are defending champion, Laurie Kerr; 1953 champion Bob Morrison; 1952 winner Ted Colgate and Gorge Vale's Bob Fleming, who won in 1951.

The starting field, restricted to 120 on a first-come, first-served basis, will be trimmed March 28.

First round of match play will be at Uplands, April 7, and the second round at Oak Bay the following week. Quarter-finals will be at Colwood, April 21 with the 36-hole semifinals at Gorge, April 28, and the 36-hole final at Uplands, May 5.

Entry form, which follows, must be mailed with entry fee, to Leo Derman, c/o Gorge Vale Golf Club, no later than 5 p.m. served basis, will be trimmed March 28.

It's Official Now Guyle's the Best

Amerk Ace Sets New Point Mark

What has been claimed for weeks became unchallengeable fact Wednesday night.

Guyle Fielder is the greatest scorer in the history of the Western Hockey League.

When Bronco Horvath tacked a new scoring record of 110 points in the Western Hockey League record books while playing with Edmonton Flyers two years ago, the record appeared destined for a long life.

But Horvath's mark expired Wednesday night, a victim of Fielder's talented stick.

Fielder, the smooth-skating Seattle centre, shattered the all-time league record for most points scored in one season as he collected a goal and an assist while Americans were drubbing Winnipeg Warriors, 6-2, at Seattle.

BEST OF FIVE

Enjoying his best season in five WHL campaigns, Fielder officially erased Horvath's record with a dubious assist on Gord Sinclair's third-period goal, but staked a clear-cut claim to the mark when he rapped in his 30th goal.

Fielder, winner of the individual scoring championship when he scored 88 points for Seattle in the 1953-54 season, now has the remarkable total of 82 assists for the season and his point total is currently tops in professional hockey.

It is the third time Fielder has led the league in assists. He also topped the American Hockey League in assists while playing with St. Louis in 1952-53.

Seattle stretched its western division lead to 13 points over New Westminster with Wednesday night's triumph while Calgary Stampedeers were clinching the third and final playoff berth in the league's eastern division with a 7-6 squeaker over Brandon Regals.

Veteran Eric Schell set the pace in the Stampeder win, firing three goals. Other Calgary scorers were Archie Scott, Sid Finney, Ray Barty and Milan Macetta.

Norm Johnson and Bob Chorley each scored two goals for Brandon while Len Haley and Don Raleigh collected singletons for the Regals.

Stampedeers, ahead, 5-4, at the end of the second period, built up a three-goal lead, but just managed to outlast the first-place Regals.

Americans got a stern tussle from the desperate Warriors before pulling away with three goals in the third period of a rugged game, at Seattle, in which 18 minor penalties were handed out.

Seattle goals were scored by Lionel Repka, Kinasevich, Barton Bradley, Fielder, Sinclair and Eddie Dorohoy. Scoring for Winnipeg were Cec Heister and George Ford.

Canada-Egyptian Tension Subsiding

CAIRO (CP) — Tense relations between Canada and Egypt over incidents in the Gaza Strip appear to be easing.

E. H. Norman, Canadian ambassador here, said Wednesday after emerging from a meeting with officials of the United Nations Emergency Force:

"I am aware of rumors of difficulties concerning the arrival of Egypt of the remainder of the Canadian contingent for the UNEF."

"Responsible UNEF officials have assured me that there is no basis for concern on this point."

Earlier it appeared that the arrival of the new troops was being resisted by Egypt following Egyptian newspaper charges that Canadian troops fired on Arabs in the strip Sunday during a demonstration.

An Egyptian spokesman in Gaza, however, said Danish troops had fired the volley that resulted in one death.

A draft of 32 reconnaissance troops, meanwhile, was held up at Naples, Italy, staging base for UNEF. They are part of a 105-man squadron of the 36th Reconnaissance Regiment. The balance of the squadron was to reach Naples within the next few days.

There was no definite word from Egyptian, UNEF or Canadian sources as to when the new arrivals would make the last lap to Abu Suweir, supply base for the Gaza area.

The ambassador's statement gave hope that what started out to look like another incident similar to that of the Queen's Own Rifles may be destined for satisfactory clarification within the next few days.

Canadians had started to look up developments within the last few days as the final straw from the Egyptians, who seemed to war to make them the whipping boys of the UNEF, with charges hanging from "imperialism" against Canadian government leaders to irresponsible handling of firearms by Canadian troops.

High School Students Hear Career Talks

Varying interests in careers showed up in student reaction to two "Career Day" programs in local high schools Tuesday.

With an eye to helping students choose a vocation, representatives of different professions gave talks at Victoria and Oak Bay high schools.

At Victoria High, students inclined towards stenography, RCAF, nursing, science research and airlines operations.

Oak Bay students preferred law, medicine, forest and civil engineering, banking and radio and television production.

Also popular choice at both schools were journalism, interior decorating, accounting and the RCMP.

Similar program will be held at Mount View High School next Wednesday.

Mount Douglas High School has been inviting experts in various fields to speak throughout the school year, rather than on one day.

Oak Bay Sets March 20 Parley On Recreation

All organizations in Oak Bay interested in recreation are asked to send delegates to a public meeting of the Oak Bay Recreation Council in the council chambers of the municipal hall on Wednesday, March 20 at 8 p.m.

Purpose of the meeting is to determine recreative needs of the community and to receive assistance from interested groups.

Organizations wishing more information should phone secretary, Mrs. E. J. Costain, at 3-4975.

Phantom Estimate Arouses Strachan

A charge that the B.C. government is planning to pay for its recent $5,000,000 "matching grants" to the University of British Columbia out of its original $10,000,000, ten-year grant was made in the legislature Wednesday night.

The government announced recently that it would match private donations to the university dollar for dollar up to $5,000,000.

"Where would you get the authority to pay this money if someone paid $2,000,000 to UBC tomorrow?" Mr. Strachan asked.

"There is no vote in the estimates," he continued. "This is a new concept and we don't want it dragged in by the back door. We want to vote on it. It should not be left to the whim or fancy of any government."

Mr. Strachan repeatedly asked the government to say where it got its authority for the matching grant.

'It's Abuse If We Ask Questions'

Premier Bennett replied that he didn't want to take any more "abuse" from the leader of the opposition.

"So its abuse if we ask questions," said Mr. Strachan. "I say you are abusing the rights of parliament."

Earlier, Mr. Strachan described the manner in which the grant was announced as "deceitful."

He demanded to know why no mention of it had been made in either the Throne Speech or the Budget Speech.

Also no provision was made in the 1957-58 estimates, which should have included a "token" vote at least, the CCF leader said.

"This House has no record of the proposal as a token of good faith," he said. "It's just in the newspapers."

Mr. Strachan described the announcement made by Mr. Peterson as "good political propaganda."

The proposal to match the donations of industry was "full of ifs," he said.

"If labor, industry or some other group comes forward, then the government will accept its responsibilities."

Mr. Strachan demanded that the government guarantee that if a fund-raising drive by the university this fall does not succeed, it will put up the money anyway.

REALIZED DISMAY

Mr. Peterson replied that the announcement of the new plan was made at the "first opportunity."

"I can realize the dismay and disappointment of the leader of the opposition when I followed him in the budget debate and made the announcement," the minister said.

The fund was not listed in the estimates because the government did not know how much money it would be called

"There is something machivellian about this," he said, "some sort of plot..."

Throughout the questioning Education Minister Leslie Peterson refused to answer. Premier Bennett said he had "lots of authority" but wouldn't say what it was.

The government also refused to answer a question on whether it still planned to recover the grants for university expansion out of revenue it will get from a proposed real estate development of UBC endowment lands.

Mr. Strachan said the only authority he could find for the grants was in the act giving the government authority to provide capital funds for UBC.

"I'd like to know if this is the authority the government will use."

"That is a matter of finance," answered Mr. Peterson. "I am sure we will get the money when it is needed."

"This is a terrible state of affairs," said Mr. Strachan.

upon to contribute in the next year, he said.

Premier Bennett said the government funds would be advanced as actual construction of new buildings gets underway and contracts are let.

Randolph Harding (CCF-Kaslo-Slocan) urged the government to give immediate increased financial aid to the university.

The ideal ratio of students to faculty is 10:1, he said, while the ratio at UBC is 18:1.

HALF FARE OR HAT RACKS FOR HALF PINTS

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—The Mid-west of America asked the civil aeronautics administration today for "relief from excessive tariffs" charged little people who ride airlines.

They demanded one of these alternatives: Half fare, two in a seat for half fare; free rides in "big people's" laps, if they are willing; free rides in the overhead hat rack in exchange for entertaining other passengers.

Environment Change 'Essential' For Drug Addicts, Says Dowding

Drug addicts should be taken as far away from their former environment as possible, Gordon Dowding (CCF-Burnaby) said in the legislature Wednesday.

A change of environment is essential," he said. "There is no sense in treating an addict as far away from their former environment as possible, Gordon Dowding (CCF-Burnaby) said in the legislature Wednesday.

Mr. Dowding raised the matter just before the House voted $2,383 for narcotic-drug treatment. He said drug-taking like alcoholism "is as much a psychiatric problem as a physical disease." Victims should not be treated as criminals.

John Tisdale (SC-Saanich) said industrial firms should take steps to prevent young employees from becoming alcoholics because of the temptations created by high wages.

HAULTAIN KAFUFFLE

Police Shot Fired To Warn Fugitive

Two-week old mystery that has puzzled residents of the 1700 block, Haultain Street was explained by the police Wednesday.

The case has long been disposed of and on the road to being officially forgotten. A man, supposedly shot by police, was subsequently convicted and fined for a traffic offence.

This is what happened.

In a routine check on Mount Toimile one night, the 20-year-old driver of a car parked there was instructed to drive his car behind a Saanich patrol car to Royal Oak police station.

An Oak Bay police car also was in attendance, and the three set off down the mountain.

Reaching Richmond Road, the Saanich patrol turned north, the escorted car turned south and proceeded at high speed—up to 80 miles an hour—along Richmond.

Both police cars took chase as did a city police car in the area, the fleeing vehicle was stopped on Haultain and the driver placed under arrest.

Saanich deputy chief—then Sgt. Jack Hamilton—arrived on the scene and walked to the speeder's car to question him.

At that point the driver leapt from the car and began running. Sgt. Hamilton, not knowing the nature of the alleged offence but realizing the man was escaping lawful arrest, fired a warning shot in the air to halt the man.

At that point the culprit either fell or was struck on the leg by a flashlight thrown by another policeman, and began shouting "I'm shot, I'm shot," which aroused the neighborhood.

Re-arrested, the man was taken to Jubilee Hospital for examination and treatment for an abrasion.

A doctor signed a statement to the effect there was no gunshot wound to be found on the man.

CCF Makes Plea For Compulsory Auto Insurance

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Wednesday it is "questionable" whether compulsory government auto insurance would be an improvement over the present system in B.C.

He was answering CCF demands for an insurance plan similar to that operated by the government in Saskatchewan.

Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook) said private insurance companies now have the power to keep a driver off the road by refusing to insure him if he is considered a poor risk. Only the government or the courts should be able to do this, he said.

MUCH TROUBLE

Mr. Bonner said compulsory government insurance would result in a "great deal of trouble," and "political" considerations might arise if the government was to decide who should or should not be insured.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said: "Either you don't give him a licence or you should make him get insurance."

Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East) said there should be a form of compulsory "accident" insurance, which would cover all persons involved in a traffic mishap.

Gordon Dowling (CCF-Burnaby) suggested auto licence fees could be increased by $5 to provide a fund for accident victims who now are unable to get insurance benefits.

Government Introduces 13 New Bills

A total of 13 bills were introduced in the legislature Wednesday, ranging from an amendment to the Protection of Children Act to changes in the Constitution Act.

Most had been forecast in the Speech from the Throne opening the present session.

A number were "house-keeping" bills made necessary by creation of the new ministry of Recreation and Conservation.

One bill increases the borrowing power of the PGE from $50,000,000 to $80,000,000.

Another provides for maintenance of survey monuments on the Alberta-British Columbia boundary, in conjunction with the Alberta government. A boundary commissioner will be appointed.

Restoration of the historic fort at Fort Langley for the 1958 centennial celebration will be undertaken jointly by the federal and provincial governments under one bill.

The present one-acre plot held by the federal government will be enlarged to nine acres.

Other new legislation enables the B.C. Appeal Court to sit in two or more divisions at the same time by increasing its size from six to eight members; increases the salaries of the premier and cabinet ministers and sessional indemnities of M.L.A.s, and includes closed-circuit television companies in the definition of "improvements" for taxation purposes.

Socreds Cut Off Heated Debate On Cassiar Road

Tempers flared in the legislature Wednesday night as the government voted down an opposition bid to have a legislative committee complete its hearings on the Cassiar-Stewart road.

Cries of "steamroller" and "shame" came from the Opposition benches when Premier W. A. C. Bennett moved at the opening of the night sitting to cut off debate on the controversial issue.

The bitter debate started in the afternoon on a motion by Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook) to place the matter before the mining and railways committee to complete its findings and report to the legislature.

The committee conducted hearings last session into charges of mismanagement and patronage in construction of the northern mining assistance road, but did not finish before

'No Need to Hear Others'—Speaker Irwin

Speaker Thomas Irwin, ruling that the premier's motion was in order, said 12 members had spoken on the resolution in the afternoon and there was no need to hear others.

The final vote on Mr. Nimsick's motion was won by the government 34-10, with the two Liberal members lining up with the CCF in support of the resolution.

Mr. Speaker Irwin said: "It is not a question of whether the road is good, bad or indifferent but whether the

Real Facts Never Emerged, Says Kiernan

Mr. Kiernan said a committee at the last session sat for many days on the matter. It made no report, although 700 pages of transcript were taken at the meetings.

He said the original start on construction was made in 1947 as a grant-in-aid to a company searching for copper. Until 1946, he said, no contracts were called for construction.

Canadians Win Opener Over Flyers

SPOKANE, Wash. (CP)—The Vernon Canadians Wednesday night took a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven Savage Cup finals against the Spokane Flyers as they knocked over the Flyers, 4-2, here.

The Canadians took a 1-0 lead in the first period only to have the Flyers tie the game early in the second. But before the second period was over the Canadians again moved one goal ahead of the Flyers.

Vernon made the score 3-1 early in the third. Spokane desperately tried to make a comeback but they only managed one goal after the Canadians added their insurance marker.

The Canadians' four goals were equally distributed between Tom Streck, Walt Trentini, Ted Leboda and Mark Marquess. Carl Cirullo and John Zahara notched both of Spokane's tallies.

The two teams meet again in Spokane Friday and Saturday before the series moves to Vernon.

The winner of the series will receive the Savage Cup and the right to travel to Eastern Canada for the Allan Cup finals. Last year the Canadians beat out the Flyers in seven games and then went on to win the Allan Cup.

Prison Law Study Road to Freedom

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP)—Knowledge of the law gleaned while in prison enabled a convict to go free after serving 18 years of a 35-to-70 year term for armed robbery. Charles Campiglia, 57, told Judge Edgar Hazelton Wednesday that another judge, in sentencing him, forgot to ask the routine question: "Have you any reason why judgment should not now be pronounced?" Hazelton freed Campiglia on the grounds he had been "punished enough."

Strachan to Examine Records On New Highway to Squamish

Debate on a motion to have all copies of all contracts, letters and papers relating to construction of the highway from North Vancouver to Squamish tabled in the legislature was adjourned Wednesday.

The motion was adjourned after the government had agreed to a suggestion that Opposition Leader Robert Strachan be given 24 hours to examine all the records and decide whether or not to press for tabling.

Earlier Mr. Strachan said: "There is a question in my mind whether it was economical to build a road close to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway."

He said he had been told no contracts for the highway had been let and it was being done on a day-to-day basis.

University in City 'Soon', Says Smith

Ald. Don Smith (SC-Victoria) told the legislature Wednesday night he is confident Victoria will soon be the site of British Columbia's second university.

He suggested the B.C. government construct a university in Victoria and offer it a system of "matching grants" similar to species.

that offered to the University of British Columbia. "I feel sure that Victoria will have a university in the not too distant future," Mr. Smith said.

SHATTERED WRECK of a 1954 model sedan stayed sufficiently whole to protect driver William Lasell, 544 Broadway, from serious injury when it went out of control Wednesday night on Trans-Canada Highway near Wilkinson. Lasell was alone and no other car was involved in the accident, Saanich police reported.—(Times photo by Bill Halkett)

City Man Dies In Bus Mishap

Second Man Injured In Separate Crash

A Victoria man is dead and another is in hospital as a result of traffic accidents in the city and Saanich overnight.

Nicholas Swan, 79, 1912 Oak Bay, a retired painter and resident of Victoria for 17 years, died in Jubilee Hospital about 45 minutes after he apparently was in collision with a bus at Oak Bay and Fell at midnight.

He was the fourth person to die in Greater Victoria in traffic mishaps since Jan. 1, Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart has ordered an inquest Monday at McCall's Funeral Home.

In fairly good condition at Jubilee is William Lasell, 31, 544 Broadway, recovering from shoulder injury, lacerated knee and abrasions suffered when his car went out of control and left Trans-Canada Highway near Wilkinson Road at about 9:30 p.m.

City police were called to Oak Bay and Fell at 12:01 a.m. today by B.C. Electric bus driver Jack E. McCormick, 3969 Quadra, to help a man whom he thought was ill and who apparently fell against the moving bus, from which he had just alighted.

Mr. Swan was rushed to hospital with what seemed minor injuries, and he died before 12:45 a.m.

CAME OFF BUS

Investigation showed he had stepped from the east-bound bus by way of the rear door at a bus stop on Oak Bay Avenue east of Chamberlain.

A passenger sitting near the door said that as the bus pulled away and Mr. Swan walked parallel to it in the same direction, the elderly man appeared to stagger and walk or fall into the side of the bus.

Among survivors is Mrs. R. C. McBride, daughter, also of 1912 Oak Bay, funeral arrangements will be announced by McCall's.

Saanich police attended the accident in which Mr. Lasell was injured.

They said his car went out of control as it was driven west on the highway, travelled 123 feet along the south side of the road, struck a rock embankment 19 feet from the travelled portion of the highway, flipped around and came to rest facing east.

There was about $1,000 damage to the car, they estimated. Lasell was alone in the car.

Admissibility Of Statements Sparks Argument

The legality of admitting evidence certain statements made to city police by Romeo Comeau, standing trial on a charge of unlawfully possessing stolen lumber, was being argued today by defence and Crown counsel in Criminal Assize Court.

SLOAN REPORT NOT READY THIS SESSION

The Sloan Royal Commission report on the B.C. forest industry will not be finished during the current session of the legislature, it was learned today.

Chief Justice Gordon Sloan still is compiling the report on the marathon hearings. After the report is turned over to Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston it must be printed and discussed by the cabinet before release.

$125,000 Offer On Hospital Wing

'Take It or Leave It' Proposal By Mayor Before Council Today

Mayor Percy Scurrah today recommended a take-it-or-leave-it offer by the city toward sharing a $450,000 Jubilee Hospital wing contribution with Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

He was to ask council later today to offer $125,000.

"As far as I'm concerned that's final," he stated.

Acceptance of the mayor's proposal would mean the other municipalities would have to share $35,000 more than had previously been considered.

FAIR PLAN

"I think it is only fair in view of the city's past contributions," he added.

If the other municipalities and council agree to the mayor's plan, the city would be protected against any future rise in costs between now and construction.

The mayor estimates the $125,000 expenditure could be taken from general revenue over the three-year construction period without seriously affecting the current mill rate.

Council was slated to hear another sharing formula suggested by a special committee headed by Ald. Arthur Dowell which conferred with hospital officials and representatives of the other municipalities.

The proposal most favored called for a Victoria contribution of $180,650—35.7 per cent of the $450,000 to be raised locally.

BREAKDOWN
Esquimalt would be asked for 12 per cent or $54,000, Oak Bay 12.1 per cent or $54,540, and Saanich 40.2 per cent or $180,900.

The formula takes into consideration contributions made to the hospital by all municipalities since 1940, from current revenue for capital purposes.

City manager C. C. Wyatt, who serves on the council hospital committee, was instrumental in arriving at the formula. It is favored by Ald. Dowell and Ald. E. D. McEwen, the other participating city members.

The total cost of the proposed 140-bed wing is about $1,800,000. The hospital board, the provincial government and the federal government would contribute all amounts over the $450,000.

Compensation Claims Total 440, Says Wicks
Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said today a total of 440 compensation claims have been appealed in the last two years under a new provision of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Of these 62 were decided in favor of the workman, 148 against and 60 still are pending.

The minister was answering a question placed on the legislative order paper by Leo Nimick (CCF-Cranbrook), who has been critical of the present appeal set-up.

In another answer placed on the order paper, Trade and Industry Minister Earle Westwood said circulation of the monthly B.C. Government News is 55,233, at a cost of $1,500.

Copies are sent to a wide range of professions and organizations throughout the province, including all schools.

Surplus to Help Hold Line On Tax Rate

Announcement of a $75,767 surplus in the 1956 budget by Victoria comptroller Dennis A. Young today provided new hope the city mill rate will not be increased this year.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he thinks results of current wage negotiations with police and firemen's unions will be the decisive factor. Both have asked 15-per-cent increases and have gone to conciliation.

The budget surplus, to be carried forward as 1957 revenue, places the city in a slightly better position than it was in at the first part of 1956 when a $66,229 surplus from 1955 was announced.

"This represents 1 per cent of the gross budget, well within reasonable budget limits," it was pointed out.

LAGGING

Mr. Young said some difficulty had been anticipated earlier in maintaining the surplus as tax collections at first appeared "to be lagging." Later, after some advertising, tax payments poured in and a new record for collections is expected to have been set.

The city anticipates increased income from the federal government following proposals that full taxes be paid for federal buildings in municipalities.

This will be countered in part by a reduced revenue of $43,000 from utilities using power lines.

In the past these paid 2 per cent of their gross income in lieu of taxes. Under the new Municipal Act, which is expected to become effective July 1, the levy will be 1 per cent.

The city will gain about $103,700 additional tax revenue this year from new construction which boosted the gross city assessment to a record $144,065,602.

$133,913 Surplus In Saanich

Saanich ended the year 1956 with a surplus of $133,913, pre-audited figures indicate.

Taking out amounts set aside for a new fire truck and for a proposed municipal hall addition, however, the truer surplus totals $51,913.

Final figures from auditors are not available.

Cost of a new fire truck—$27,000—was taken into account in 1956 estimates, but delivery was not made until this year.

Also budgeted was the sum of $55,000 for a municipal addition proposed before talks commenced on a joint Victoria-Saanich municipal hall.

Both amounts came from the general surplus fund, which amounted to $336,834.

MONTE ROBERTS

I do hope and trust you have failed to miss the elegant billboards currently being displayed on behalf of the Royal Bank of Canada.

And if you have not seen one, run, don't walk, to the nearest, right this minute, and have a good look. They are, to put it mildly, excellent.

The background is a restrained, dignified blue. The lettering is small, almost delicate, refined, and best of all, very much to the point.

It spells out, with stark simplicity, this message: THERE IS NOTHING QUITE LIKE MONEY IN THE BANK

Royal Bank of Canada, I salute you. There is, indeed, nothing quite like money in the bank. And—if I interpret your message correctly, Royal Bank, old pal—you infer there is nothing quite like keeping money in the bank, permanently.

With this I must also agree. Especially in this troubled time, when the spectre of inflation haunts the waking hours and fills the troubled dreams of economists throughout the free enterprising world.

It is well known to one and all that money only causes trouble when people go around spending it on goods and services (including rental space for billboards, although I hate to bring up this latter, and no doubt picaresque, point.) Money tucked safely away in the bank will never lead to inflation.

If everyone, everywhere, would only heed the Royal Bank's admonition, we could forget about inflation. We could all forget about threats of wars, too, because if money stayed in the bank where it belonged, it wouldn't be gallivanting around, buying airplanes and warships and bombs and guided missiles, and paying wages of men trained in the way of war.

If all the money were confined to the bank, we could all stop working and enjoy a life of complete leisure.

Because, if all our wages went directly into the bank and stayed there, there wouldn't be much point in working, because banks have all the money they need.

Utopia, after all, is not impossible. Just remember what the Royal Bank tells us: THERE'S NOTHING QUITE LIKE MONEY IN THE BANK

SAANICH MAN'S TERROR

Murder Recalled In Trophy Award

In Ottawa this week a young basketball player named Ken Nickell was awarded the Bert Marshall Memorial Trophy for ability and sportsmanship.

In Saanich, a former Ottawa alderman heard the news with special interest, and his mind slipped back to a day in 1930.

The Saanich man and his friend, Bert Marshall, a basketball star, were driving from Hull to Ottawa.

Their car was in collision with another, which slewed to a halt almost parallel.

The Saanich man and his friend Bert leapt out of the car and demanded to know what the other driver thought he was doing.

By way of reply, the other driver stepped out of his car, and—a burly, menacing figure—stepped toward the two friends.

From his overcoat pocket he drew a gun, and shot Bert Marshall dead.

Then he slipped back into the driver's seat and sped away.

The Saanich man was rooted to the spot with surprise. But he was able to catch a portion of the fleeing car's licence number—which led to the capture, conviction and execution of the murderer, who was a holdup man and dope addict.

The Saanich man was witness at the murder trial. Later, he donated the Bert Marshall Trophy in memory of the friend who died before his eyes.

And the donor of the trophy, who still remembers that tragic day with vivid clarity, is Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich.

Candy Store Owner Dies

Mrs. Jean Hall, owner for 27 years of the widely-known Jean Fraley Chocolate Shop here, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Wednesday at the age of 80.

Her chocolates have been sampled by such notables as Sir Winston and Lady Churchill, Queen Mother Mary and the late King George VI.

Mrs. Fraley was known for her quiet humanitarian work among hundreds of less fortunate persons.

STARTED AS HOBBY

Born in Brewster County, Virginia, she came to Victoria in 1910 and began the shop in 1930 as a hobby. She owned and operated the business until February of this year.

Widow of Fred Hall, she leaves two sisters, Mrs. Bunea Ponath, Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Myrtle Finley, Los Angeles, Calif.

The funeral will be held at Hayward's Funeral Home Saturday at 3 p.m., with burial at Royal Oak Park.

Warren Supports Horse Shoe Pitch Asked By Mayor

City parks administrator W. H. Warren today supported the scheme of Mayor Percy Scurrah to introduce horse shoes and shuffleboard in Victoria parks.

"As a matter of fact, I've been trying to get shuffleboard in the parks for 20 years," said Mr. Warren.

"It's in the estimates. It was tossed out last year, but maybe we'll get it now."

"We're willing to provide these facilities, if the public shows it is interested," he added.

The parks administrator recalled the city once had a battery of pitches on Franklin Green (Mason Street) for about 10 years, "but it died out."

There were also some playing areas in Beacon Hill Park and a limited amount of horse shoe pitching took place at Central Park.

In the '30s and early '40s there were lively tournaments on the site of the present B.C. Electric building and just prior to the Second World War the Chamber of Commerce tried to revive the sport.

PUC Has No Control Over Power Corporation Profit

The B.C. Public Utilities Commission has no control over profits of the B.C. Power Corporation, a PUC official said today.

The corporation, parent company of the B.C. Electric, reported Wednesday that its net earnings increased 25 per cent in 1956 over the previous year.

The PUC only has the power to regulate profits and rates of operating utility companies, not holding companies which earn money from stocks and bonds, the spokesman said.

High earnings by a parent company "may" indicate that its subsidiaries are also making good profits, but it is not an accurate yardstick, he said.

Fort Langley Restoration Gets Nod

Restoration of the original fort at Fort Langley to make it the focal point of the 1958 centennial celebrations will be undertaken jointly by the provincial and federal governments.

The two governments have agreed to share the cost of the project up to a total of $250,000. Details of the agreement are contained in a bill given first reading in the Legislature Wednesday.

The present one-acre area held by the federal government as a national historic site will be enlarged to nine acres by acquisition of adjoining lands.

HBC POST

Fort Langley was established as a Hudson's Bay Company post in 1827 and located at its present site in 1839 as the first permanent settlement on the B.C. mainland.

It was the site of the inauguration in 1858 of Sir James Douglas, governor of the crown colony of B.C. and became the first capital of the colony.

Besides restoration of the fort, it is planned to landscape the grounds of the enlarged property.

After the project is completed the federal government will maintain and operate the property as a national historic site.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Make Your Own Cufflinks To Match Favorite Outfits

By PENNY SAVER

The finishing touch to an ultra-smart casual or dressy outfit are made-to-match cufflinks for blouse or dress. A little extra material from a skirt or dress will be enough to cover the molded nylon buttons that are joined by a dainty link. Just cover and press the back of the button in place, and there you have custom-made accessory jewelry. Tweeds, tartans, prints or solid colors can be used to contrast or match your ensembles. These inexpensive cufflinks would make novel gifts for friends, too. You can add a touch of sparkle with rhinestone or pearl studs, or with sparkly dust, and you convert a pretty blouse into an evening blouse worthy of any special occasion.

They cost so little, just 35 cents a pair, that you can afford to match them to many outfits, and have fun doing it.

To keep trousers neat and without creases on hangers, invest in an "add-a-hanger." These pants hangers have rubber-tipped hooks that slip under the cuffs, holding the trousers in place and assuring a neat crease. At the centre of each hanger is another hook onto which you can hang another hanger. This hanger also has a centre hook, and you can add these space-saving hangers for a great length. These sell at three for $1.39.

Skirt hangers with clips that hold the waistband are made on the same principle, with the centre hook so that you can use every bit of space in your wardrobe. The skirt hangers are 35 cents each.

White uniforms for work, are always in demand in restaurants and hospitals, and you can buy them at a very low and reasonable price. Short-sleeve uniforms with down-the-front stud buttons, easily removed, are selling for $2.97. Of crisp cotton, they wash up well and look so smart.

For information about any items mentioned in this column call me at 2-3131.

UNITED IN PRAYER

Hundreds of Women Join in World Day of Prayer Service

Over 500 women attended the afternoon service of the World Day of Prayer recently in St. John's Anglican Church. The service was led by Mrs. B. P. Harding, assisted by representatives from other churches. The speaker was Rev. Laura Butler, soloist, Mrs. F. Godley, and Frederick Chubb was at the organ.

The offering which is used for missionary work throughout the world amounted to $208.33. Evening service led by Mrs. H. Pells drew more than 100. The speaker was Mrs. C. B. Smith, Mrs. H. Booth and Mrs. R. Browning were soloists, and Mrs. W. B. Milburn was at the organ. Offering amounted to $37.50.

St. Patrick's Tea

Members of St. Alban's Altar Guild have completed plans for the third annual St. Patrick's tea in the parish hall, Ryan at Belmont Avenue, Saturday at 2.30 p.m. The affair is convened by Mrs. W. E. Drysdale.

Mrs. Douglas Kendall and Mrs. P. W. Roberts will preside at the tea table. Mrs. Bertha McHaffie Gow is arranging decorations in the St. Patrick's motif.

A home cooking stall, convened by Mrs. A. P. Newell and Mrs. B. Shattock, and dancing by pupils of Mrs. Kay Costain will be added attractions. Proceeds from the tea will be used to purchase a new violet frontal for the altar.

LENTEN RECIPE

GRAPEFRUIT SWIZZLE

Three cups fresh grapefruit juice, ½ cup fresh lemon juice, ½ to ¾ cup sugar, sprigs fresh mint.

Combine first two ingredients and mix well. Add sugar to taste. Crush four fresh mint leaves and add to the juice. Stir until thoroughly mixed. Chill. Pour into glasses over ice cubes. Garnish with an extra sprig fresh mint. Yield: 8 servings.

DRAPERY SALE FEATURE OF COFFEE PARTY

In addition to being a favorite Lenten meal, fish is highly nutritious, being a rich and reliable source of protein and minerals. But traditionally the family is not always receptive to things that are "good" for them. This is where a subtle application of applied psychology comes in handy.

Dress up your fish course party style and they'll love it. You can do this by taking a leaf out of the epicurean cookbooks. Embellish your fish with a delicious sauce and a tasty dressing. All this can be done with a minimum of effort with three modern short-cuts in cookery: a delicious spaghetti sauce made from luscious sun-ripened tomatoes combined with tender mushrooms and delicate seasoning, according to a chef's old Italian-style sauce recipe; a package of stuffing, and also, a package or two of frozen fish fillets.

All the complicated chores of preparing an elegant sauce are already done for you. You simply open the can and pour the sauce over the stuffed fillets. The fillets are easy, too, because they come already prepared. This is also true of the packaged bread stuffing. Put them all together and you have a delightful main dish made in a wink.

Incidentally, you will find this spaghetti sauce with mushrooms a natural for dressing up lots of other dishes, too. It behooves the wise homemaker to keep an 8-ounce size can for family meals and 15½-ounce size can for party fare on her pantry shelf.

EASY STUFFED FISH

Eight frozen fish fillets, 1 8-ounce can spaghetti sauce with mushrooms, 1 package bread stuffing, salt and pepper, butter or margarine.

Thaw fish according to directions. Spread stuffing on one fillet and place another top, fastening securely with toothpicks. Place in a greased shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with butter or margarine. Pour can of spaghetti sauce with mushrooms over fish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes or until the fish flakes easily with a fork. Makes four servings.

A MOTHER AND A STEP-MOTHER AT A WEDDING:

My stepdaughter, who is to be married in a few months, has lived with her father and me for ten years. This was her own choice, and she has called me "Mom" from the beginning, as our relationship has been very close. Her own mother, who moved away, has remembered her only on birthdays and Christmas, and in those ten years only spent a half hour with her. Now, with the wedding coming up, what place do the mother and I take? We're not sure if the mother will attend, but we would like to be prepared.

place do the mother and I take? We're not sure if the mother will attend, but we would like to be prepared.

This is indeed a problem, and somebody is bound to be hurt. Every effort should be made to submerge the situation at the time of the wedding. An "estranged" mother and a friendly stepmother under one roof would be embarrassing and awkward. I hope it can be avoided and I hope that everyone concerned will be understanding and charitable so as to work out this problem with full adult intelligence. I suggest that the daughter get in touch with her mother and discuss the plans, weighing everything carefully from all angles. She should ask the mother what she wants or expects to do. In spite of the mother's apparent neglect and disinterest in her daughter, she is her blood mother who didn't abandon her entirely, inasmuch as she made an attempt to keep in touch, feeble though it was. If it is decided that the mother is to step into the picture, here would be your challenge.

Bonner Supports Censor On 'Baby Doll' Banning

A decision by B.C. movie censor R. D. McDonald to ban the film, "Baby Doll," because of publicity surrounding it, was defended in the legislature Wednesday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The attorney-general said the censor has taken the position that "objectionable or questionable" scenes may be left in some movies and go "unnoticed."

"But if sections are exploited sensationally he takes a different view," Mr. Bonner said. "It's a matter of discretion."

The attorney-general said censorship of films in B.C. is "not more severe" than in other provinces.

"Broadly speaking, I think the censor does a good job," he said.

More than 10,000,000 tons of rock was used in building the Canso causeway from the Nova Scotia mainland to Cape Breton.

STARTS TONIGHT

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE'S "RICHARD III"

In VistaVision and Technicolor

STARRING SIR LAURENCE OLIVIER WITH A TREMENDOUSLY POWERFUL CAST OF SUPPORTING STARS. This is undoubtedly one of the most outstanding films of our time and has already earned for Sir Laurence Olivier a nomination for an Academy Award. It has been rated by all the best critics on both sides of the Atlantic as being in the top-most bracket and is an absolute "must" for every patron of the Shakespearean Art and students of English literature both young and old. For the movie-goer it is sheer enjoyment all the way through, offering humor, pathos, drama, excitement, superb dialogue and acting of the very highest order for its entire length.

Please note—Owing to the length of this program we will present Matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 1:45 p.m. Doors at 1:15 p.m. Complete evening performances at 7:45 p.m. Doors at 7:15 p.m. Children must be accompanied by an adult at all evening performances.

REGULAR PRICES

We respectfully request that our patrons endeavour to be seated before the feature starts to avoid any disturbance.

Feature starts at 2:05 and 8:05 p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Get together with friends and attachments today and tonight. Let them know how you would like to operate to gain your mutual hopes and wishes in the future. Then you quickly arrive at right solution. Tonight fine for romance, recreation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

The full accent of today's lunar force is in public matters. Be sure you make the new beginnings that will aid your career, credit and civic reputation. Do nothing that could in any way take from your worldly good name. Zoom upward!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Thinking in terms of the higher attributes of the mind, operating more on a basis of principle and less on expediency strongly urged today. By so doing, you attract new-comers that will be unusually helpful to you. State ideals with zest.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Now you have a chance to get your financial arrangements with others on a more secure basis than for some time past. Be sure you do pay bills, attend to Social Security, taxes, reports, statements, as well as look in new deals.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

This is your day to be highly personal. Go directly to anyone who is able to give you the backing you need. You'll have to be willing to do something for new partners as well, or raise the ante for long-time associates for real gain.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

Friday's child is one of those very active youngsters who will be always ready for a change and a new beginning that will give him or her the chance to express himself or herself far more than one who is more inclined by planetary positions to let life bring opportunities to him or her. This child has a very practical nature which only requires a chance to have the right training and then a fine success follows. It's up to you to bestow such an education as you will provide this.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Get together with friends and attachments today and tonight. Let them know how you would like to operate to gain your mutual hopes and wishes in the future. Then you quickly arrive at right solution. Tonight fine for romance, recreation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

The full accent of today's lunar force is in public matters. Be sure you make the new beginnings that will aid your career, credit and civic reputation. Do nothing that could in any way take from your worldly good name. Zoom upward!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Thinking in terms of the higher attributes of the mind, operating more on a basis of principle and less on expediency strongly urged today. By so doing, you attract new-comers that will be unusually helpful to you. State ideals with zest.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Now you have a chance to get your financial arrangements with others on a more secure basis than for some time past. Be sure you do pay bills, attend to Social Security, taxes, reports, statements, as well as look in new deals.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

This is your day to be highly personal. Go directly to anyone who is able to give you the backing you need. You'll have to be willing to do something for new partners as well, or raise the ante for long-time associates for real gain.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

Friday's child is one of those very active youngsters who will be always ready for a change and a new beginning that will give him or her the chance to express himself or herself far more than one who is more inclined by planetary positions to let life bring opportunities to him or her. This child has a very practical nature which only requires a chance to have the right training and then a fine success follows. It's up to you to bestow such an education as you will provide this.

If Worms Too Gooney, Gals Can Use Cheese

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Liver was banned Friday as bait for trout in California streams. So was every other meat, but cheese remains acceptable, largely because the women want it so.

The meat ban was voted unanimously by the state fish and game commission because California hatcheries raise trout on liver. And the planed fish are suckers for liver bait.

Commissioner Thomas H. Richards asked, "How in the devil are we going to train our kids to be sportsmen if they use cheese and all that sort of stuff as bait?"

Then came the housewives, led by Mrs. Armetine Howey of Summit, Calif.

She said women don't have much luck with flies and artificial lures. And they find bait like worms and hellgrammites distasteful.

A hellgrammite is a water larva of a lace-winged fly and good bait.

Canadian Firm Cut Off U.S. Export List

WASHINGTON (AP)—The commerce department Wednesday denied U.S. export privileges to 11 firms and individuals in Britain, Canada and the United States for the illegal transshipment of U.S. goods to Communist-dominated countries. Value of the shipments was placed at more than $1,250,000.

The denial order named William Kurt Samuel Wallerstein and his firms, Watford Chemical Company Ltd. and E. Tingley and Son Ltd., all of London; Watford Chemical Co. (Canada) Ltd. of Toronto, and Watford Chemical Corporation of New York City.

The department's bureau of foreign commerce said that in 1951 Wallerstein, operating through a Swiss corporation under his control, contracted with a firm in East Germany to supply it with chemicals, drugs and dyes.

The bureau said the Wallerstein group obtained some of the materials in the United States "by falsely representing customs that the shipments were ultimately destined for Britain or Canada."

"After the goods arrived in Britain, either direct or via Canada, the group caused them to be transshipped to East Germany and Gdynia, Poland, in violation of U.S. security export controls."

USAF Academy Officials Here This Weekend

Senior officers of the U.S. Air Force academy at Denver, Colo., will visit Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, Friday through Sunday, to discuss training programs at the two establishments.

The visiting party will be headed by Major-General James E. Briggs, superintendent of the USAF academy, and will include: Brigadier R. M. Stillman, commandant of cadets; Col. H. F. McDonald, dean of faculty; Col. P. H. Dane, professor of thermodynamics; Col. M. B. Boyd, director of information services; Col. B. B. Cassidy Jr., deputy commandant of cadets; Col. C. H. Munch, associate professor of law; Col. W. B. Taylor, assistant chief of staff; and Major Gordon P. Culver, special assistant to superintendent.

The party will arrive at Patricia Bay airport at 4 p.m. Friday, leave Sunday afternoon.

CBC Radisson Series Cost At $821,600

OTTAWA (CP)—Present estimate of cost for the CBC film television series, Radisson, is $821,600 for 26 episodes in English and French. Revenue Minister McCann said Wednesday.

Dr. McCann, who reports to Parliament for the CBC, told the Commons the original estimate of cost was $10,000 an episode in each language, but the figure has been revised upwards to $15,800 an episode after producing seven half-hour programs.

Originally, the CBC planned 15 programs based on the life and times of Pierre Radisson, famed French-Canadian explorer in the days of New France. The series later was lengthened to 26 episodes with prospects of extending it to 39 programs.

Dr. McCann gave the information in reply to a written question by William Hamilton (PC—Montreal-Notre Dame de Grace).

Haulers, Cleaners Keep Tie

Heaneys and Individual Cleaners, who remained in a tie for third place in "A" division of the Victoria Table Tennis Association by tripping the top clubs this week, will decide which teams will advance into league playoffs against Butler Brothers by the toss of a coin.

Individuals trimmed pace-setting Farmer Construction, 13-5, but Heaneys kept pace by defeating second-place Butlers, 19-13. In the other "A" division game, Strathcona Hotel trounced Island Tug, 20-6.

Skylark skidded into third place in "B" division on a 27-23 loss to Heaneys while first-place Beehives dropped a 26-24 decision to last-place MacDonalds.

NEW PLANE FOR BOAC—This is an artist's conception of the new Boeing 707-420 jetliner, a plane utilizing the Rolls Royce Conway, a revolutionary "bypass" type jet engine, previously seen only on Russian jet bombers and transports. It is 20 per cent more efficient than conventional jets. The plane is designed to carry from 107 to 170 passengers at speeds of 525 to 575 miles an hour at 40,000 feet. The British government has approved its use by the British Overseas Air Corporation. (NEA Photo)

Newfie-Leaguer Scores Three In 19 Seconds

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—Alex Faulkner scored three goals within 19 seconds Monday night to break a Newfoundland scoring record and lead Grand Falls Dees to a 15-5 victory over Bell Island in their Provincial Senior Hockey League playoff. Two of the goals were unassisted.

The individual record in the National Hockey League for the fastest three goals is held by Billy Mosienko. The former Chicago Black Hawks right winger scored them within 21 seconds at New York March 23, 1952, as Hawks defeated Rangers, 7-6.

7 Shoplifters Nabbed in 1 Day In Duncan Store

DUNCAN—A warning that shoplifting is on the increase here was sounded at a meeting Wednesday of the Duncan-Cowichan Bay Chamber of Commerce.

Charles Beadnell, manager of the Super-Valu store here, said he had caught seven shoplifters in one day, and worst offenders were high school students and new Canadians.

Women were the worst, he said, and those who shoplift are not persons in actual need.

One merchant told of watching two children under 10 years of age "grab up" the entire stock of penny candy.

TOO LENIENT
Local merchants said they felt that young offenders had not been dealt enough severity in the past.

RCMP have warned Duncan merchants that bad cheques are being circulated in the district. Merchants were told to be wary of cheques drawn on the Iron Bay Timber Company on Bank of Montreal cheque blanks, ranging from $85 to $100.

Canadian Telephone Buys U.S. Holdings

MONTREAL (CP)—Bell Telephone Co. of Canada has increased its ownership in Northern Electric Co. Ltd., its manufacturing subsidiary, from 56.4 per cent to nearly 90 per cent. The acquisition was accomplished Feb. 15 by purchase of 272,000 shares of Northern Electric at their estimated book value at Jan. 31 of $72.50 a share, or a total of $19,720,000.

The purchase was from Western Electric Co., American telephone-equipment manufacturing company, which still holds about 10 per cent of Northern Electric shares.

Announcement of the transaction was made today by Thomas W. Eadie, Bell president, at the company's annual meeting. He described the terms as "very attractive."

Nanaimo Co-Op Pays Record Dividend
NANAIMO—Farmers' Co-operative here paid a record 10 per cent patronage dividend to members in 1956, president Nat Eccleston told the annual meeting.

He said $43,200 was returned to members, bringing the total since 1938 to $373,000.

(FROM CP DISPATCHES)

VANCOUVER—Bank drafts worth $375,000 have been seized by Vancouver police searching for two expert Montreal safe-crackers.

Detectives missed the men when they raided a motel Tuesday, but they arrested three women whom they are holding for investigation.

The seizure and arrests resulted from co-operation between Vancouver authorities and eastern police trying to capture the men who blew open a Trans-Canada Air Lines safe in Montreal's Mount Royal Hotel March 4.

Five books contained bank drafts for U.S. currency. A detective classified all the drafts as "good as gold."

In addition to the bank drafts police seized $2,000 in cash, which they said had been left in the motel safe; a nine-millimeter automatic pistol, and 47 rounds of ammunition.

INCREASE PRODUCTION

ABBOTSFORD—D. R. Nicholson, president of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, Wednesday urged farmers to increase milk production to reduce costs.

"It is time that we give a good deal of thought to producing enough excess milk to be manufactured into high-class dairy products, to pay a goodly share of the entire cost of our individual dairy operations."

APPEAL LAUNCHED

VANCOUVER—Thomas Sidney Symes, 31, has launched an appeal against his conviction for murder in connection with the shooting New Year's Day of Paul Powling at Duncan. Symes was convicted at Nanaimo last month.

SKEENA NEARS SERVICE

NORTH VANCOUVER—The HMCS Skeena, first of Canada's new destroyer escorts to go into service on the west coast, will be commissioned at Burrard drydock here March 30, the navy announced Wednesday.

Four other modern anti-submarine vessels already in service on the east coast are the St. Laurent, Assiniboine, Ottawa and Saguenay, forming the third Canadian escort squadron based on Halifax.

SOIL LAB STARTED

SUMMERLAND—Sod was broken officially Wednesday by Reeve F. E. Atkinson for the new $200,000 soils laboratory to be built at the experimental farm east of the present offices. Dr. T. H. Anstey, farm superintendent, reports that the structure will be completed by fall.

ADMITS POINT FOR FIREMEN

OTTAWA (CP)—Presence of a second man in the cab of a yard diesel locomotive can reduce the risk of accident "to a degree," the royal commission on the CPR diesel issue heard Tuesday.

John Shepp, of Vancouver, the CPR's Pacific region chief of labor relations, conceded this under cross-examination by David Lewis, of Toronto, counsel for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC), on testimony he gave last week.

However, Mr. Shepp did not retreat from his earlier opinion that firemen are not necessary in yard service.

Mrs. Banner Heads Altar Society Again

SOOKE—Mrs. Ed. Banner Sr., Jordan River, was re-elected president of St. Rose of Lima Altar Society at the annual meeting Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rumsby in Saseenos.

Other officers re-elected were vice-president, Mrs. O. Fredrickson, North Sooke; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Horgan, East Sooke.

Father W. J. O'Brien, whose parish comprises Langford, Sooke and Metchosin, took the chair for the election.

LOOK OUT BUD... WORM

Torpedo Bombers To Fight Bugs

Grumman Avengers, war-time torpedo bombers, will roar over Vancouver Island this year, their bomb bays loaded with death.

Their target: The Black-headed Budworm, whose voracious appetite is threatening 3,000,000,000 feet of timber extending over nearly 2,000,000 acres and worth hundreds of millions of dollars. It will be the largest spraying job ever undertaken in British Columbia against insect infestation.

The budworm, in the larval stage, eats the foliage of the trees. Trees can usually survive one or two years of such feeding, but a third and fourth year usually brings widespread killing. The budworm is fairly prevalent throughout British Columbia, normally in small numbers, but under favorable climatic conditions the population soars into billions, which threaten to kill great tracts of timber.

Men from the Dominion Science Service and timber owners on the northern end of the Island had been watching such a build-up and became alarmed in 1955.

An official committee was immediately formed of foresters from Alaska Pine & Cellulose, Canadian Forest Products, Powell River Company, Ltd., Crown Zellerbach Limited, MacMillan and Bloedel Limited, and the Tahsis Company, with representatives from the B.C. Forest Service and the Dominion Science Service.

The committee directed an intensive survey of the situation and ordered a trial spraying on selected plots. They found it was possible to kill 97 to 100 per cent of the insects by aerial spraying at the proper time.

Last summer, the committee summed up its egg sampling and feared another bad year would bring widespread killing. They decided spraying was essential, and engaged Skyway Air Service of Langley, which had taken part in massive assault on the spruce budworm in New Brunswick.

Skyway will concentrate on the critical area of 150,000 acres between Nimpkish Lake and Neutrosos Arm and extending north to Port Hardy. Experts from the fisheries and game departments are being consulted to avoid damage to fish and other wildlife.

Skyway decided to bring in Grumman Avengers, which can carry 750 pounds of spray, and operate at a speed of 180 miles an hour. The company has a big job to do in June, when the spraying will be carried out. Sixty thousand gallons of DDT must be obtained and diluted with 90,000 gallons of diesel oil. Mixing and refuelling equipment and tank trucks must all be sent north and strategically located before then.

Everything must run like clockwork. Planes returning empty must be refuelled, loaded with DDT and be able to take off within five minutes.

Kiddies' Fashion Show At Sooke on Friday

SOOKE—The Sooke Girl Guide Association is planning a silver tea and children's fashion show to be held in the Sooke Community Hall Friday afternoon.

Conveners are Mrs. D. Maze and Mrs. W. Strong.

Proceeds of the affair will go towards travelling expenses of the three girls who are representing the Juan de Fuca (formerly Sooke division) at centenary camps this summer.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

As Session Drags
Tempers Shorten

Signs of restlessness are beginning to show in the legislature as the end of the current session approaches and many believe it will wind up at the end of next week.

Members swing to and fro in their swivel chairs, drum on their desks with nervous fingers, wander in and out of the chamber and upstairs into the parliamentary restaurant.

Tempers, too, are getting shorter.

"Sit down!" thundered Highways Minister Gagliardi when a member interrupted

him during Wednesday's night sitting.

But a few minutes later the ebullient minister got up while someone else was talking and refused to sit down until he was ordered to by Mr. Speaker Irwin.

Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook) concluded a speech on education by saying, "Well, that is all."

"Are you sure?" asked Mr. Gagliardi.

Gagliardi Accustomed to Opposition Insults

"I resent that," cried Mr. Gagliardi leaping to his feet, "although I am used to insults from the other side of the House."

Three members jumped to their feet and started talking simultaneously when W. J. Asselstine (SC-Atlin) had the floor during the heated debate on the Stewart-Cassiar Road.

'King Alcohol' an Insidious Character

"Old King Alcohol is an insidious character," he said. "The more you get acquainted with him the better you like him. Familiarity, in his case, does not breed contempt."

Mr. Tisdalle added the usual rider that he was not speaking from experience. No member of the House ever seems to admit to such experience.

Tom Uphill, the ever lively 83-year-old member for Fernie, spoke of his moderation last week and George Gregory (Liberal-Victoria) told the House his interest in the alcoholic strength of liquor sold in B.C. was "purely amateur."

Urging long-range plans for education, plump, good-humored Mr. Nimsick raised a laugh by saying:

"Remember there will still be children 20 or 30 years from now... that is," he added, "unless we change our ways."

Quoting the poets seems to be a favorite indulgence among members this session. Just for a change, CCF Opposition leader Robert Strachan supplied a mis-quotation. Adapting Shakespeare to his own uses, he chided the government with: "Methinks the ministers do protest their innocence too much."

Beware: Albino Alice Likes Meat---Any Kind

If you see a white whale, don't stroke it.

"Sudsing" around local waters at present is Albino Alice, a vicious two-ton mammal who'd as soon chew the child as cough.

This is the word from provincial museum director Dr. Clifford Carl, who says Alice, belonging to the whale species unlaughingly called "killer," will.

"Alice was sighted Tuesday by AB Jack Lindgren of HMCS James Bay in Ganges Harbor.

She's cruised Pacific waters for about 10 years and been sighted about 50 times.

Alice and her black brothers and sisters like meat, of any description. They even attack other whales, ripping out their tongues as a delicacy.

But she's of value naturologically. One black whale looks much like another black whale, but not Alice, pure as the driven surf, movements of whales can be studied with considerable accuracy.

"Please suggest that other people who see Alice let us know," said Dr. Carl.

Alice is about 20 feet long and is believed to have recently had a baby—a black one.

DIRECTOR-STAR-BRILLIANT

Expert Performance
Of Shavian Satire

By AUDREY S.L.D. JOHNSON

As on their previous visit, little more than a year ago, Canadian Players turned from Shakespeare to Shaw. Wednesday night, and scored an unqualified triumph.

The pungent Shavian satire, "Man and Superman," was given an expert, crisply-styled performance that kept a sell-out Royal Theatre audience crackling with laughter and applause throughout its nearly three-hour length.

Shedding a brilliant light over the entire production was director-star Douglas Campbell. As the irascible revolutionary and fugitive from the jungle of women, Jack Tanner, Campbell turned in a performance that was top-of-the-tree in every respect.

CUNNING

A turn of his body, a movement of the foot, a tilt of an eyebrow, was often as telling a comment as some of Shaw's own quips. In the cunning use of timing for emphasis, in sustained brilliance of characterization and attention to detail, it was a performance on a par with the best of England's comedy film stars.

Quality of acting was pyramidal, with Campbell at the apex. Next, and close too, came Ted Follows as the aggressively British chauffeur, Emory Straker, and Edwin Stephenson as the torch-bearing Victorian lover.

VERSATILE

Follows' characterization and acting style was entirely delightful. That he is a versatile actor was proven also, by his previous night's performance as a convincing and serious Cassio.

The company's strength lies principally in its male population. Ann Casson was given every opportunity by Shaw to make the female lead equal in brilliance to that of the male. But while obviously a talented, experienced and charming actress, Miss Casson did not give the comedy its full worth.

Max Holmann's blustering Irish-American "heavy father" was excellently done and John Gardiner, as his son, was also quite satisfactory.

Distant Sister

WINNIPEG (CP) — Michael Brennstuhl heard his sister's voice for the first time in 31 years when she surprised him with a telephone call from Poland to say she planned to visit him soon. Mr. Brennstuhl came to Canada 31 years ago.

U.K. Shipyards
Will Support Arbitration

LONDON (Reuters) — Shipbuilding employers agreed today to submit a union wage claim to arbitration, provided 200,000 workers call off a nation-wide strike scheduled to begin at noon Saturday.

Labor Minister Iain Macleod told the House of Commons the employers had stipulated the union must also agree to submit to arbitration its demands for a 10 per cent wage increase.

Earlier today, the Shipbuilding Employers' Federation asked Macleod to meet with them. He drove to their offices from a cabinet meeting, called to discuss the strike which could cost Britain millions of dollars worth of contracts.

UNION OPPOSED

Union leaders have already told Macleod they can not accept his arbitration plan and want a definite pay offer from the owners.

Over the shipyard situation loomed the greater threat of a strike by 2,500,000 workers in the general engineering industries who are demanding a similar raise.

Leaders of the giant Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering unions, which is organizing both wage demands, meet Friday to decide how to handle the larger stoppage. They may call for strikes at selected targets or order a national shutdown.

Cost of the pay claims is estimated at more than £110,000,000 a year. Employers, who say that prices must be cut and not increased if Britain's export position is to improve, appear determined to challenge the unions.

TORONTO THUG
GETS $11,000

TORONTO (CP) — A robber stuck a gun in the ribs of a girl payroll courier in Toronto's west-central garment district today and fled with the $11,000 she was carrying.

The courier, Mary Swiston, was returning from the bank.

NOTED RACING OFFICIAL and veterinarian, Dr. W. J. McKeon, 70, died in hospital at Vancouver Wednesday. "Doc" McKeon, born in Victoria, had been associated with horse racing in British Columbia and Washington for 35 years. He was a well-known figure during racing at the Willows in his capacity as presiding steward. He is survived by his widow and one son, Eric.

Crown Zellerbach
'56 Sales Set
Company Mark

VANCOUVER—Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited today reported that its sales in 1956 reached an all-time high of $79,474,192, 7 per cent over 1955, but that its net income of $9,924,219 was only 0.4 per cent above the previous year.

In his annual report to share owners, president Peter T. Sinclair, attributed the "retarded earnings" to "increased costs, a weaker lumber market, and a substantial exchange penalty on sales paid for in U.S. currency owing to the premium position of the Canadian dollar."

The company's pulp and paper mills at Ocean Falls, 350 miles north of Vancouver, and at Elk Falls on Vancouver Island, produced a record 291,285 tons of paper, paperboard and kraft pulp for sale, an increase of 16.2 per cent over 1955.

This increase reflected the first production of kraft pulp for sale at the expanded Elk Falls mill, general speed-up of paper machines, and improved operating efficiencies, the report said.

The No. 1 newsprint machine at Elk Falls, for instance, was brought up to an output of 320 tons daily.

Ship Collision in Atlantic Fog
Sends Refugees Back to Europe

THE HAGUE (CP)—The Dutch steamship Waterman, bound for Halifax and New York with 400 passengers, collided in North Atlantic fog early today with the Italian freighter Merit. The Waterman messaged that she had a hole above her waterline at the stern and was returning to Rotterdam.

Neither vessel was considered in immediate danger. Dirkswagers shipping agency in Rotterdam said the Waterman also messaged: "All well on board and weather conditions satisfactory."

The 9,177-ton Waterman—carrying 312 Hungarian refugees who will make their homes in Canada and 450 Dutch emigrants destined for Canada and the United States—is operated by the Holland-American Line. The 7,174-ton Merit sails out of Genoa.

The vessels collided at a position about 500 miles southwest of Ireland. The Waterman was three days out from Rotterdam when they hit.

The Waterman advised vessels in the vicinity that she would not require assistance after earlier sending out an SOS.

Nearing the half-way mark in campaigning, Red Cross Society has collected a total of $20,225 in this area. The goal for March, "Red Cross Month," is $79,500.

Jack and Jill

THIS column strikes me as having been rather high-falutin' lately. So let's descend to a lower plane today, and have a little fun with Jack and Jill.

In Victoria, you're bound to know them. They're in their sixties, and they've been struggling up the Matrimonial Hill for over 30 years.

At times, the course of their true love still runs a trifle rough in a mildly irritated kind of way. It's very different from the old days when fits of temper used to alternate with bouts of making up and making love.

Nowadays, there are no words of whispered passion. Instead, at bedtime, they say things like, "What about the cat, dear?" and "Did you put out the dog?"

For the children are grown up and gone, you see. It's many, many years since Jill used to sit up suddenly in the middle of the night and say, "Listen, is that the baby crying?"

It's many years since Jill used to lie awake torn with anxiety because the young folk were so late coming home from the dance. There were times in those years when Jack and Jill used to long for a little peace and quiet. But now, with the perversity of human nature, they often wish that they could have a little young life in the house.

They'd find it tiring, though, and just a bit upsetting. Because there's no doubt that they have grown just a little set in their ways.

Jill always uses certain pots and pans for cooking. She always takes the dog for a walk at a certain time. She always plumps the cushions and empties the ash trays before she goes to bed.

Ruth

And Jack is apt to say, as he's said time and time again, that he's never known anyone who took so long to get to bed.

But he's set, too. He always puts his spectacles in a special place on the mantelpiece. When the English papers come, he always tears the wrapper off in exactly the same way. He always likes his cup of tea before he goes to bed. And he has quite strong ideas about warming the teapot.

He hates to miss the 10 o'clock news even though he knows that, word for word, it'll be exactly what he heard a few hours earlier.

To young, irreverent ears, a lot of their conversation is deadly dull. They talk of death and taxes, and how the taxes are going up every year, and how the taxes are going up every year, and how the taxes are going up every year. They talk of death and taxes, and how the taxes are going up every year, and how the taxes are going up every year, and how the taxes are going up every year.

Naturally, they grumble about the governments, federal and provincial. The city council is often in hot water. The school board's ideas are quite fantastic.

Often, they're quite shocked by the decrepitude of their contemporaries. Jack will say, "I saw old So and So today. Getting pretty shaky." And Jill will say, "Well, I met Mary Smith in town. She's aged a lot in recent months."

Though they hate to admit that they, too, are aging, Jack does say periodically that he'll have to get his glasses checked again—because the print in the paper is getting smaller. (But the garden is growing larger! "The place is getting much too big for us, my dear. We'll have to get some help.")

Yes, that's Jack and Jill. I'm not laughing at them, truly. I'm just enjoying them. Because sometimes in my darker moments, I can see the shape of what I'll be in the years to come!

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Baldness

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, University of California, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

People write asking how to cure baldness or how to get their hair to grow in again after some or all of it has dropped out. Books on skin diseases list a number of preparations which can be rubbed on the top of the head, but the authors do not claim much for them.

In some cases massage of the scalp which for a few minutes brings in more blood might help a bit. In some cases of dandruff, the keeping of the scalp clean will help. The difficulty, of course, is that once a hair follicle has been badly injured by disease or destroyed by some disease or by atrophy, it is never going to grow a new hair no matter what anyone does to it.

The most important fact that I ever learned about baldness is that when the hair comes out in comb-falls one should figure back just three months. Often, then, the person will say, "Yes, that's right; just three months ago I had a serious fever, or a terrible fright, or a nervous breakdown, or a baby." Why is the hair coming out three months later? Because, after each hair died it took three months for a new hair to push it out. Usually such a person becomes panicky and rushes to a doctor, or a beauty parlor, or to a hair-quick.

If I were to lose my hair three months after a fever or a mental shock, I would save my money; I would wait patiently to see if new hairs came in. If they didn't, then I could get worried. But even then I doubt if I would do anything because I would know of nothing very promising to do. I could rub medicines into my scalp but I would not expect them to do much, if any, good. Years ago in my thirties, when I was slowly losing my hair, I read big books on the scalp and hair, and wound up deciding that even the experts knew very little.

HORMONES USELESS

Evidently the sex glands have much to do with the hairiness of the scalp and body, but unfortunately, so far, no doctors have been able to put hair on certain persons or to take it off others by giving any of the sex hormones.

TUBERCULOSIS STILL A PROBLEM

Today, many physicians feel that tuberculosis in man has almost disappeared, but unfortunately this is not true. I read now that among the 8,000,000 people residing in New York City, 24,221, known to the health authorities, have active tuberculosis. Doubtless, many more are concealing their illness, or do not know that it is tubercular in nature. Many of the persons whose cases are reported are found to have the disease in an advanced form. The cost to the city of caring for these persons is 50 million dollars a year. Obviously, people with active tuberculosis of the lungs could help their fellow men so much by not spraying the air constantly with tubercle bacilli. They should hate to be spreading death about them.

STUDY WHEN WE ARE OLD

On opening my copy of the Stanford Review, I see that Mrs. Katharine T. Davis, of the class of 1904, just received a degree of Master of Arts from the Fresno State College. Obviously, if she graduated first in 1904, she must now be 70 or older. She says she wanted to keep busy, so when her duties at home were done, she went back to college. She says she maintained a B plus average, and the only difficulty she experienced was that it took her a little longer to study and take things in than it did when she was young.

In today's mail there is a letter from a woman who is out of patience with the idea that any woman should want to find some useful work after her responsibilities are ended and she has moved out of the big house into a small apartment. My correspondent fumes at the thought of anyone in such a comfortable state being foolish enough to go hunting for a job. She thinks that any woman not soft in the head will just be happy to stretch out and rest. Doubtless, many women will feel that way, while others won't. Some will want to go on being useful, or they will find that to do nothing is horribly boring.

Perennial Borders Need Sturdy Plants

Several articles have appeared recently in gardening periodicals, berating us for indulging in the pleasures of a perennial border.

The main theme of such articles is to point out the terrific amount of labor necessary to keep the plants staked and tied.

The writers work on the theme that we are using the wrong plants, Jack Beastall aid one cites michaelmas daisies, plox and goldenrod as "untidy and unwieldy plants, prone to flatten themselves at the first puff of wind or drop of rain."

Further, it is suggested the only plants to grow are those capable of keeping erect under all weather conditions, such as shrubby plants for the background, bearded iris and medium shrubs for the centre.

Victoria Man Convicted Of Wire Theft

Found guilty of stealing a quantity of copper wire from Capital Iron and Metals Ltd., Richard Brook of Victoria was remanded by Justice J. V. Cline Wednesday to the end of the criminal assizes for sentence.

An Assize Court jury found Brook guilty of stealing two rolls of copper wire on Jan. 5, which were later sold by him to Morris Bernstein, a Vancouver junk dealer.

The wire was valued at about $400. Brook, who was not represented by counsel, pleaded that he found the two coils while gathering bark chips for fuel on Sunday, Jan. 6, behind the brickyard on Douglas Street.

YOUR INCOME TAX

How to Figure Out Medical Expenses

By W. GORDON HOLMS, C.A.

Before discussing income tax deductions, I remind you parliament made 1956 tax rates less than 1955. For example:

Taxable Income	Total Tax
1955—$ 500	1955—$ 81
1956— 500	1956— 76
1955—1,000	1955—161
1956—1,000	1956—151
1955—2,000	1955—341
1956—2,000	1956—321
1955—3,000	1955—539
1956—3,000	1956—509

Now we can discuss some of these deductions allowed by the Crown, beginning with medical expenses.

Medical expenses exceeding 3 per cent of net income are classed as a deduction.

The maximum that can be deducted is $1,500 for a single taxpayer; $2,000 for a married taxpayer. Dependent's medical expenses may total $500 for one dependent with a maximum of $2,000 for all dependents.

Thus the greatest deduction that could be made is $4,000.

Medical, hospital and dental expenses must have been on behalf of the taxpayer, his wife or dependents and must have been paid in any 12-month period ending in 1956, and not claimed on the 1955 return.

RESIDENTS OF B.C.

There is one important provision. When you are protected by a contributory hospital plan you can claim for the sum billed during the 12-month period even though it is paid later by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service or by a recognized medical plan.

This is an important provision in B.C., with its hospital insurance service and widespread subscription to the Medical Services Association (MSA).

If not claimed on your 1955 return, you can claim the following:

1. Payments to a hospital or qualified medical practitioner, dentist or nurse. (The expression medical practitioner includes a qualified osteopath, chiropractor, optometrist, therapist or naturopath.)

2. Payments for injectible liver extract or vitamin B12 for pernicious anemia, insulin, cortisone, ACTH and oxygen, if such drugs were prescribed, and payment for an artificial limb, spinal brace for a limb, hearing aid, wheelchair or iron lung. Certain derivative drugs containing vitamin B12, cortisone and ACTH are also allowable, your Income Tax Department, Belmont Building, has a list of the allowable ones.

The following may NOT be claimed as medical expenses:

1. Cost of eyeglasses.
2. Traveling expenses incurred to receive medical attention.
3. Fees or premium paid under an insurance or hospitalization plan.

There are special allowances for the blind and those requiring a full-time attendant. For particulars, inquire at Belmont Building. All of these claims must be substantiated by signed and dated receipts.

It is important to note that BCIHS hospital receipts must be picked up from the hospital concerned.

Young Texans Resist Dog Catchers' Posse

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Two armed dog catchers and a dozen policemen were held at bay more than an hour Wednesday by two 14-year-old boys who said one of the dog catchers tried to kill their pet. The boys were jailed and charged with assault to murder and discharging firearms inside the city limits. They were armed with a .22-calibre rifle.

SHATTERED WRECK of a 1954 model sedan stayed sufficiently whole to protect driver William Lasell, 544 Broadway, from serious injury when it went out of control Wednesday night on Trans-Canada Highway near Wilkinson. Lasell was alone and no other car was involved in the accident, Saanich police reported.—(Times photo by Bill Halkett)

City Man Dies In Bus Mishap

Second Man Injured In Separate Crash

A Victoria man is dead and another is in hospital as a result of traffic accidents in the city and Saanich overnight.

Nicholas Swan, 79, 1912 Oak Bay, a retired painter and resident of Victoria for 17 years, died in Jubilee Hospital about 45 minutes after he apparently was in collision with a bus at Oak Bay and Fell at midnight.

He was the fourth person to die in Greater Victoria in traffic mishaps since Jan. 1. Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart has ordered an inquest Monday at McCall's Funeral Home.

In fairly good condition at Jubilee is William Lasell, 31, 544 Broadway, recovering from shoulder injury, lacerated knee and abrasions suffered when his car went out of control and left Trans-Canada Highway near Wilkinson Road at about 9:30 p.m.

City police were called to Oak Bay and Fell at 12:01 a.m. today by B.C. Electric bus driver Jack E. McCormick, 3969 Quadra, to help a man whom he thought was ill and who apparently fell against the moving bus from which he had just alighted.

Mr. Swan was rushed to hospital with what seemed minor injuries, and he died before 12:45 a.m.

CAME OFF BUS

Investigation showed he had stepped from the east-bound bus by way of the rear door at a bus stop on Oak Bay Avenue east of Chamberlain.

A passenger sitting near the door said that as the bus pulled away and Mr. Swan walked parallel to it in the same direction, the elderly man appeared to stagger and walk or fall into the side of the bus.

Among survivors is Mrs. R. C. McBride, daughter, also of 1912 Oak Bay. Funeral arrangements will be announced by McCall's.

Saanich police attended the accident in which Mr. Lasell was injured.

They said his car went out of control as it was driven west on the highway, travelled 123 feet along the south side of the road, struck a rock embankment 19 feet from the travelled portion of the highway, flipped around and came to rest facing east.

There was about $1,000 damage to the car, they estimated. Lasell was alone in the car.

Admissibility Of Statements Sparks Argument

The legality of admitting as evidence certain statements made to city police by Romeo Comeau, standing trial on a charge of unlawfully possessing stolen lumber, was being argued today by defence and Crown counsel in Criminal Assize Court.

Comeau, a lumber yard foreman, is accused of having in his possession about $500 worth of lumber belonging to B.C. Forest Products. His trial opened Wednesday before Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne.

BREAKDOWN

Esquimalt would be asked for 12 per cent or $54,000, Oak Bay 12.1 per cent or $54,540, and Saanich 40.2 per cent or $180,900.

The formula takes into consideration contributions made to the hospital by all municipalities since 1940, from current revenue for capital purposes.

City manager C. C. Wyatt, who serves on the council hospital committee, was instrumental in arriving at the formula. It is favored by Ald. Dowell and Ald. E. P. McEwen, the other participating city members.

The total cost of the proposed 140-bed wing is about $1,800,000. The hospital board, the provincial government and the federal government would contribute all amounts over the $450,000.

Compensation Claims Total 440, Says Wicks

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said today a total of 440 compensation claims have been appealed in the last two years under a new provision of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Of these 62 were decided in favor of the workman, 148 against and 60 still are pending.

The minister was answering a question placed on the legislative order paper by Leo Nimick (CCF-Cranbrook), who has been critical of the present appeal set-up.

In another answer placed on the order paper, Trade and Industry Minister Earle Westwood said circulation of the monthly B.C. Government News is 55,233, at a cost of $1,500.

Copies are sent to a wide range of professions and organizations throughout the province, including all schools.

SLOAN REPORT NOT READY THIS SESSION

The Sloan Royal Commission report on the B.C. forest industry will not be finished during the current session of the legislature, it was learned today.

Chief Justice Gordon Sloan still is compiling the report on the marathon hearings.

After the report is turned over to Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston it must be printed and discussed by the cabinet before release.

'Take It or Leave It' Proposal By Mayor Before Council Today

Mayor Percy Scurrell today recommended a take-it-or-leave-it offer by the city toward sharing a $450,000 Jubilee Hospital wing contribution with Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

He was to ask council later today to offer $125,000.

"As far as I'm concerned that's final," he stated.

Acceptance of the mayor's proposal would mean the other municipalities would have to share $35,000 more than had previously been considered.

Surplus to Help Hold Line On Tax Rate

Announcement of a $75,767 surplus in the 1956 budget by Victoria comptroller Dennis A. Young today provided new hope the city mill rate will not be increased this year.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said he thinks results of current wage negotiations with police and firemen's unions will be the decisive factor. Both have asked 15-per-cent increases and have gone to conciliation.

The budget surplus, to be carried forward as 1957 revenue, places the city in a slightly better position than it was in at the first part of 1956 when a $66,229 surplus from 1955 was announced.

"This represents 1 per cent of the gross budget, well within reasonable budget limits," it was pointed out.

LAGGING

Mr. Young said some difficulty had been anticipated earlier in maintaining the surplus as tax collections at first appeared "to be lagging." Later, after some advertising, tax payments poured in and a new record for collections is expected to have been set.

The city anticipates increased income from the federal government following proposals that full taxes be paid for federal buildings in municipalities.

This will be countered in part by a reduced revenue of $43,000 from utilities using power lines.

In the past these paid 2 per cent of their gross income in lieu of taxes. Under the new Municipal Act, which is expected to become effective July 1, the levy will be 1 per cent.

The city will gain about $103,700 additional tax revenue this year from new construction which boosted the gross city assessment to a record $144,065,602.

$133,913 Surplus In Saanich

Saanich ended the year 1956 with a surplus of $133,913, pre-audited figures indicate.

Taking out amounts set aside for a new fire truck and for a proposed municipal hall addition, however, the truer surplus totals $51,913.

Final figures from auditors are not available.

Cost of a new fire truck—$27,000—was taken into account in 1956 estimates, but delivery was not made until this year.

Also budgeted was the sum of $55,000 for a municipal addition proposed before talks commenced on a joint Victoria-Saanich municipal hall.

Both amounts came from the general surplus fund, which amounted to $336,834.

MONTE ROBERTS

I do hope and trust you have failed to miss the elegant billboards currently being displayed on behalf of the Royal Bank of Canada.

And if you have not seen one, run, don't walk, to the nearest, right this minute, and have a good look.

They are, to put it mildly, excellent.

The background is a restrained, dignified blue.

The lettering is small, almost delicate, refined, and best of all, very much to the point.

It spells out, with stark simplicity, this message:

THERE IS NOTHING QUITE LIKE MONEY IN THE BANK

Royal Bank of Canada, I salute you.

There is, indeed, nothing quite like money in the bank. And—if I interpret your message correctly, Royal Bank, old pal—you infer there is nothing quite like keeping money in the bank, permanently.

With this I must also agree.

Especially in this troubled time, when the spectre of inflation haunts the waking hours and fills the troubled dreams of economists throughout the free enterprising world.

It is well known to one and all that money only causes trouble when people go around spending it on goods and services (including rental space for billboards, although I hate to bring up this latter, and no doubt picaresque, point.)

Money tucked safely away in the bank will never lead to inflation.

If everyone, everywhere, would only heed the Royal Bank's admonition, we could forget about inflation.

We could all forget about threats of wars, too, because if money stayed in the bank, where it belonged, it wouldn't be gallivanting around, buying airplanes and warships and bombs and guided missiles, and paying wages of men trained in the way of war.

If all the money were confined to the bank, we could all stop working and enjoy a life of complete leisure.

Because, if all our wages went directly into the bank and stayed there, there wouldn't be much point in working, because banks have all the money they need.

Utopia, after all, is not impossible.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

More than 700 high school students from all parts of B.C. have been guests of the Legislature so far this session.

"Our policy is to encourage young people to take an interest in their government," Speaker Thomas Irwin said.

Thirty-four boy and girl students from Hope, Chilliwack, North Bend and Vancouver were welcomed to the buildings by Mr. Irwin today to watch the House in action.

Agriculture Minister Ralph Chetwynd had "a good night," an official at the Veterans' Hospital said today.

Mr. Chetwynd was rushed to the hospital Monday afternoon and was on the "seriously ill" list for two days.

His condition is now said to be improved.

The Old Age Pensioners Association, No. 5, will hold a rummage sale on Saturday at the YMCA from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The date was incorrectly reported in Wednesday's Times as Friday.

Frank White was elected to head the newly-formed Victoria "skin divers' Club at an organizational meeting Wednesday night.

Bill Hook was elected vice-president; Deric Rigby, secretary-treasurer, and Stan Fletcher, Allan Hook and Roy White, directors.

Potential members who pass a swimming test at the Crystal Garden Monday at 8:30 p.m. will be admitted into the club.

Court clerk William Ostler sat as city police court magistrate for the first time today following his recent appointment as stipendiary magistrate.

As a justice of the peace he had presided over city police court previously in the absence of the regular magistrate.

Magistrate H. C. Hall did not appear today due to illness.

Liberal Religious Fellowship (Unitarian) will meet in Room 410 at 745 Yates Street, George Warneck of the John Howard Society will speak on "Church and Crime."

Greater Victoria Association for Retarded Children will meet in the Health and Welfare Building tonight at 8. Showing of film, "Tuesday's Child," will be followed by a discussion period.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Knights and Dames of the Thistle: Norway House, 8 p.m. New officers will be installed.

Certified General Accountants of B.C., Victoria Chapter: Pacific Club, 8 p.m. C. E. Wesson will speak on "Accounting for Capital Costs."

Welsh Society: Business and Professional Women's Club, 904 Government, 8 p.m.

Canadian Club of Victoria: Joint luncheon meeting with Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Empress Hotel, 12:10 p.m. Sir Robert H. Adow, British Consul-General for Northern California and Nevada, will talk on "Britain after Suez."

PUC Has No Control Over Power Corporation Profit

The B.C. Public Utilities Commission has no control over profits of the B.C. Power Corporation, a PUC official said today.

The corporation, parent company of the B.C. Electric, reported Wednesday that its net earnings increased 25 per cent in 1956 over the previous year.

The PUC only has the power to regulate profits and rates of operating utility companies, not holding companies which earn money from stocks and bonds, the spokesman said.

High earnings by a parent company "may" indicate that its subsidiaries are also making good profits, but it is not an accurate yardstick, he said.

SAANICH MAN'S TERROR

Murder Recalled In Trophy Award

In Ottawa this week a young basketball player named Ken Nickell was awarded the Bert Marshall Memorial Trophy for ability and sportsmanship.

In Saanich, a former Ottawa alderman heard the news with special interest, and his mind slipped back to a day in 1930.

The Saanich man and his friend, Bert Marshall, a basketball star, were driving from Hull to Ottawa.

Their car was in collision with another, which slewed to a halt almost parallel.

The Saanich man and his friend Bert leapt out of the car and, demanded to know what the other driver thought he was doing.

By way of reply, the other driver stepped out of his car, and—a burly, menacing figure—stepped toward the two friends.

From his overcoat pocket he drew a gun, and shot Bert Marshall dead.

The Saanich man was rooted to the spot with surprise.

But he was able to catch a portion of the fleeing car's licence number—which led to the capture, conviction and execution of the murderer, who was a holdup man and dope addict.

The Saanich man was witness at the murder trial.

Fort Langley Restoration Gets Nod

Restoration of the original fort at Fort Langley to make it the focal point of the 1958 centennial celebrations will be undertaken jointly by the provincial and federal governments.

The two governments have agreed to share the cost of the project up to a total of $250,000. Details of the agreement are contained in a bill given first reading in the Legislature Wednesday.

The present one-acre area held by the federal government as a national historic site will be enlarged to nine acres by acquisition of adjoining lands.

HBC POST

Fort Langley was established as a Hudson's Bay Company post in 1827 and located at its present site in 1839 as the first permanent settlement on the B.C. mainland.

It was the site of the inauguration in 1858 of Sir James Douglas, governor of the crown colony of B.C. and became the first capital of the colony.

Besides restoration of the fort, it is planned to landscape the grounds of the enlarged property.

After the project is completed the federal government will maintain and operate the property as a national historic site.

Saanich Hall Committee Named

A three-man committee consisting of Saanich councillors Joseph Casey, George Austin and S. W. Brock, with Coun. Casey chairman, was appointed by Reeve Arthur Ash Wednesday to investigate municipal hall expansion needs.

SHOPPING GUIDE

By PENNY SAVER

The finishing touch to an ultra-smart casual or dressy outfit are made-to-match cufflinks for blouse or dress. A little extra material from a skirt or dress will be enough to cover the molded nylon buttons that are joined by a dainty link. Just cover and press the back of the button in place, and there you have custom-made accessory jewelry. Tweeds, tartans, prints or solid colors can be used to contrast or match your ensembles. These inexpensive cufflinks would make novel gifts for friends, too. You can add a touch of sparkle with rhinestone or pearl studs, or with sparkly dust, and you convert a pretty blouse into an evening blouse worthy of any special occasion.

They cost so little, just 35 cents a pair, that you can afford to match them to many outfits, and have fun doing it.

To keep trousers neat and without creases on hangers, invest in an "add-a-hanger." These pant hangers have rubber-tipped hooks that slip under the cuffs, holding the trousers in place and assuring a neat crease. At the centre of each hanger is another hook onto which you can hang another hanger. This hanger also has a centre hook, and you can add these space saving hangers for a great length. These sell at three for $1.39.

Skirt hangers with clips that hold the waistband are made on the same principle, with the centre hook so that you can use every bit of space in your wardrobe. The skirt hangers are 35 cents each.

White uniforms for work, are always in demand in restaurants and hospitals, and you can buy them at a very low and reasonable price. Short-sleeve uniforms with down-the-front stud buttons, easily removed, are selling for $2.97. Of crisp cotton, they wash up well and look so smart.

For information about any items mentioned in this column call me at 2-3131.

"I need stamps too, but I don't have a charge account there."

UNITED IN PRAYER

Hundreds of Women Join in World Day of Prayer Service

Over 500 women attended the afternoon service of the World Day of Prayer recently in St. John's Anglican Church. The service was led by Mrs. B. P. Harding, assisted by representatives from other churches.

The speaker was Rev. Laura Butler; soloist, Mrs. F. Godley, and Frederick Chubb was at the organ.

The offering which is used for missionary work throughout the world amounted to $208.33.

Evening service led by Mrs. H. Pells drew more than 100. The speaker was Mrs. C. B. Smith, Mrs. H. Boothe and Mrs. R. Browning were soloists, and Mrs. W. B. Milburn was at the organ. Offering amounted to $37.50.

Similar services were held at the Aged Women's Home, with Mrs. C. Millard leading the service. Mrs. Louise Miller, the speaker, and Mrs. Brigadier Martin, accompanied by Mrs. Dick Goodwyn, the soloist. Co-operating churches were Anglican, Regular Baptist, B.C. Baptist Convention, Free Methodist, Lutheran, Church of the Nazarene, Presbyterian, Pentecostal, Reformed Episcopal, Salvation Army, Missionary Alliance, United Church, Four Square Gospel, Christian Reformed (Dutch) and the Christian Business Women's Club.

AT BRENTWOOD Mrs. A. K. McMinn conducted the service and Mrs. Alexander Cuthbert was soloist when women of all denominations assembled for observance of the World Day of Prayer in Brentwood United Church. Order of service, prepared by former Hungarian, Serena Vassady, was adapted for use in Canada by a committee of the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada. Churches in the district represented were Brentwood United, Brentwood College Memorial Chapel, Sluggert Memorial Baptist, Pentecostal, Shady Creek United, St. Mary's and St. Stephen's Anglican.

LENTEN RECIPE

GRAPEFRUIT SWIZZLE

Three cups fresh grapefruit juice, ½ cup fresh lemon juice, ¼ to ½ cup sugar, sprigs fresh mint.

Combine first two ingredients and mix well. Add sugar to taste. Crush four fresh mint leaves and add to the juice. Stir until thoroughly mixed. Chill. Pour into glasses over ice cubes. Garnish with an extra sprig fresh mint. Yield: 8 servings.

DRAPERY SALE FEATURE OF COFFEE PARTY

In addition to being a favorite Lenten meal, fish is highly nutritious, being a rich and reliable source of protein and minerals. But traditionally the family is not always receptive to things that are "good" for them. This is where a subtle application of applied psychology comes in handy.

Dress up your fish course party style and they'll love it. You can do this by taking a leaf out of the epicurean cookbooks. Embellish your fish with a delicious sauce and a tasty dressing. All this can be done with a minimum of effort with three modern short-cuts in cookery: a delicious spaghetti sauce made from luscious sun-ripened tomatoes combined with tender mushrooms and delicate seasoning, according to a chef's old Italian-style sauce recipe; a package of stuffing, and also, a package or two of frozen fish fillets.

All the complicated chores of preparing an elegant sauce are already done for you. You simply open the can and pour the sauce over the stuffed fillets. The fillets are easy, too, because they come already prepared. This is also true of the packaged stuffing. Put them all together and you have a delightful main dish made in a wink.

Incidentally, you will find this spaghetti sauce with mushrooms a natural for dressing up lots of other dishes, too. It behooves the wise homemaker to keep an 8-ounce size can for family meals and 15½-ounce size can for party fare on her pantry shelf.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

A MOTHER AND A STEP-MOTHER AT A WEDDING:

My stepdaughter, who is to be married in a few months, has lived with her father and me for ten years. This was her own choice, and she has called me "Mom" from the beginning, as our relationship has been very close.

Her own mother, who moved away, has remembered her only on birthdays and Christmas, and in those ten years only spent a half hour with her. Now, with the wedding coming up, what place do the mother and I take?

We're not sure if the mother will attend, but we would like to be prepared.

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS: This is indeed a problem, and somebody is bound to be hurt. Every effort should be made to submerge the situation at the time of the wedding. An "estranged" mother and a friendly stepmother under one roof would be embarrassing and awkward. I hope it can be avoided and I hope that everyone concerned will be understanding and charitable so as to work out this problem with full adult intelligence. I suggest that the daughter get in touch with her mother and discuss the plans, weighing everything carefully from all angles. She should ask the mother what she wants or expects to do. In spite of the mother's apparent neglect and disinterest in her daughter, she is her blood mother who didn't abandon her entirely, inasmuch as she made an attempt to keep in touch, feeble though it was. If it is decided that the mother is to step into the picture, here would be your challenge to be noble and unselfish by stepping out. It would be difficult for you, but you could steel yourself for those hours. After all, you and the daughter have been close for ten years, and will undoubtedly continue in the years to come. However, I do think that the daughter's wishes should be considered, for this will be her day, and everything should be done to make it a very happy one for her and the young man.

Now, with the wedding coming up, what place do the mother and I take?

We're not sure if the mother will attend, but we would like to be prepared.

Series Cost
At $821,600OTTAWA (CP) — Present estimate of cost for the CBC filmed television series, Radisson, is $821-600 for 26 episodes in English and French, Revenue Minister McCann said Wednesday.Dr. McCann, who reports a Parliament for the CBC, told the Commons the original estimate of cost was $10,000 an episode in each language, but the figure has been revised upwards to $15,800 an episode after producing seven half-hour programs.Originally, the CBC planned 15 programs based on the life and times of Pierre Radisson, famed French-Canadian explorer in the days of New France. The series later was lengthened to 26 episodes with prospects of extending it to 39 programs.Dr. McCann gave the information in reply to a written question by William Hamilton (PC-Mont-

Buys U.S. HoldingsMONTREAL (CP)—Bell Telephone Co. of Canada has increased its ownership in Northern Electric Co. Ltd., its manufacturing subsidiary, from 56.4 per cent to nearly 90 per cent.The acquisition was accomplished Feb. 15 by purchase of 272,000 shares of Northern Electric at their estimated book value at Jan. 31 of $7250 a share, or a total of $19,720,000.The purchase was from Western Electric Co., American telephone-equipment manufacturing company, which still holds about 10 per cent of Northern Electric shares.Announcement of the transaction was made today by Thomas W. Eadie, Bell president, at the company's annual meeting. He described the terms as "very attractive."Dealing with other matters, Mr. Eadie said Ontario's proposed tax legislation "raises again the implication of double taxation," and the basis of the company's present understanding its over-all corporation taxes would be increased by about $750,000 in 1957.To pay this increased tax revenues would need to be increased by $1,450,000, or by about 50 cents for each telephone in service.The present surplus—money retained in the company from earnings—totalled $31,350,000 after 77 years of operation and was equivalent to slightly more than the dividend coverage for a single year.The surplus, largely accumulated during the last five years, was a "remarkable improvement" over the situation in 1950, before rate relief was granted.The number of people waiting for telephone service had been reduced from 47,000 to 28,000 in 1956 and a further reduction was expected this year. The company also planned an "intensified effort" to raise standards of rural service.Nanaimo Co-Op Pays Record DividendNANAIMO—Farmers' Co-operative here paid a record 10 per cent patronage dividend to members in 1956, president Nat Eccleston told the annual meeting.
He said $43,200 was returned to members, bringing the total since 1938 to $373,000.

Police Find Bank Drafts Of $375,000

(FROM CP DISPATCHES)

VANCOUVER—Bank drafts worth $375,000 have been seized by Vancouver police searching for two expert Montreal safe-crackers.

Detectives missed the men when they raided a motel Tuesday, but they arrested three women whom they are holding for investigation.

The seizure and arrests resulted from co-operation between Vancouver authorities and eastern police trying to capture the men who blew open a Trans-Canada Air Lines safe in Montreal's Mount Royal Hotel March 4.

Five books contained bank drafts for U.S. currency. A detective classified all the drafts as "good as gold."

In addition to the bank drafts police seized $2,000 in cash, which they said had been left in the motel safe; a nine-millimeter automatic pistol, and 47 rounds of ammunition.

INCREASE PRODUCTION

ABBOTSFORD—D. R. Nicholson, president of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, Wednesday urged farmers to increase milk production to reduce costs.

"It is time that we give a good deal of thought to producing enough excess milk to be manufactured into high-class dairy products, to pay a goodly share of the entire cost of our individual dairy operations."

VANCOUVER—Thomas Sidney Symes, 31, has launched an appeal against his conviction for murder in connection with the shooting New Year's Day of Paul Fowling at Duncan. Symes was convicted at Nanaimo last month.

SKENA NEARS SERVICE

NORTH VANCOUVER—The HMCS Skena, first of Canada's new destroyer escorts to go into service on the west coast, will be commissioned at Burrard drydock here March 30, the navy announced Wednesday.

Four other modern anti-submarine vessels already in service on the east coast are the St. Laurent, Assiniboine, Ottawa and Saguenay, forming the third Canadian escort squadron based on Halifax.

SOIL LAB STARTED

SUMMERLAND—Soil was broken officially Wednesday by Reeve F. E. Atkinson for the new $200,000 soils laboratory to be built at the experimental farm east of the present offices.

Dr. T. H. Anstey, farm superintendent, reports that the structure will be completed by fall.

ADmits POINT FOR FIREMEN

OTTAWA (CP)—Presence of a second man in the cab of a yard diesel locomotive can reduce the risk of accident "to a degree," the royal commission on the CPR diesel issue heard Tuesday.

John Shepp, of Vancouver, the CPR's Pacific region chief of labor relations, conceded this under cross-examination by David Lewis, of Toronto, counsel for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers (CLC), on testimony he gave last week.

However, Mr. Shepp did not retreat from his earlier opinion that firemen are not necessary in yard service.

There was no damage.

Funds Asked For Guides' World Camps

SOOKE—Mrs. C. H. Radford of Sooke and Douglas Forrester of West Vancouver were guest speakers at the March meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute.

Mrs. Radford, district commissioner of the harbor district of the Sooke division, Girl Guides, spoke on the three world camps to be held this summer in Canada, Great Britain and Switzerland, in connection with the centenary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell.

She asked for support from members of the institute in financing the representatives who will attend the camps.

Mr. Forrester, who is compiling a history of Sooke in conjunction with the Women's Institute, gave a resume of the work.

He asked that a work committee from the institute assist in gathering data.

Members of this committee are Mrs. J. B. Wilkinson, Mrs. Walter Conder, Mrs. G. Hay and Mrs. R. Strong. Mrs. G. A. Ackerman is writing the chapter on the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute. It is hoped the work will be completed for the centennial year 1958.

An engraved silver mug was presented to Mrs. Raymond Blouin for her new son, Michael Anthony.

Mrs. P. Wilfrid appealed for donations in furnishing a cottage for a Hungarian family housed on Woodside Farm. Articles most needed are kitchen utensils and equipment.

Members were reminded to complete work for the Tweeds Cup national WI competition. They also were asked to knit squares for the "blankets for Hungary" project.

Mrs. E. Butler, who presided at the meeting, thanked both the speakers.

LOOK OUT BUD... WORM

Torpedo Bombers To Fight Bugs

Grumman Avengers, wartime torpedo bombers, will roar over Vancouver Island this year, their bomb bays loaded with death.

Their target: The Black-headed Budworm, whose voracious appetite is threatening 3,000,000,000 feet of timber extending over nearly 2,000,000 acres and worth hundreds of millions of dollars. It will be the largest spraying job ever undertaken in British Columbia against insect infestation.

The budworm, in the larval stage, eats the foliage of the trees. Trees can usually survive one or two years of such feeding, but a third and fourth year usually brings widespread killing. The budworm is fairly prevalent throughout British Columbia, normally in small numbers, but under favorable climatic conditions the population soars into billions, which threaten to kill great tracts of timber.

Men from the Dominion Science Service and timber owners on the northern end of the island had been watching such a buildup and became alarmed in 1955.

An official committee was immediately formed of foresters from Alaska Pine & Cellulose, Canadian Forest Products, Powell River Company, Ltd., Crown Zellerbach Limited, MacMillan and Bloedel Limited, and the Tahsis Company, with representatives from the B.C. Forest Service and the Dominion Science Service. The committee directed an intensive survey of the situation and ordered a trial spraying on selected plots. They found it was possible to kill 97 to 100 per cent of the insects by aerial spraying at the proper time.

Last summer, the committee summed up its egg sampling and feared another bad year would bring widespread killing. They decided, spraying was essential and engaged Skyway Air Service of Langley, which had taken part in massive assault on the spruce budworm in New Brunswick.

Skyway will concentrate on the critical area of 150,000 acres between Nimpkish Lake and Neutrosos Arm and extending north to Port Hardy. Experts from the fisheries and game departments are being consulted to avoid damage to fish and other wildlife.

Injunction Filed Against Hoxsey

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The state board of medical examiners today filed an injunction suit against Harry M. Hoxsey and two of his cancer clinic staff, seeking to stop Hoxsey from practicing medicine in Texas.

It also seeks to prevent his advertising treatment for any disease.

The suit names Thomas E. Norris, business manager of the clinic here, and Bert Dooley, clinic administrator, as joint defendants with Hoxsey.

Body of PGE Rockslide Victim Found

VANCOUVER (CP)—Workmen have recovered the body of Letz Beierlein, German immigrant laborer, killed when a shale slide occurred on a highway project he was working on north of here.

The slide blocked the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and caused cancellation of one northbound train. Southbound trains were met at the slide. PGE officials said it will take two or three days to clear the rails.

Ontario Slayer Jailed 8 Years

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—John Joseph Basarich, 51, Red Rock, Ont., found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Mike Vujnovic, also of Red Rock, today was sentenced to eight years in prison.

Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson, Toronto, in passing sentence, told the prisoner that in his opinion the jury had taken a very lenient view of the facts. Basarich had been charged with murder.

Horse Racing Folds in Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Horse racing, a major sports attraction in Winnipeg for the last 35 years, folded today.

Shareholders of the Manitoba Jockey Club, which has organized racing meets here since 1922, voted to liquidate the club after hearing the directors' annual report in which president Anna Speers blamed "discriminatory taxation" by the Manitoba government for the demise of the sport.

Mother Admits to Murder of Children

NATICK, Mass. (AP)—Two children were found dead in their home here Wednesday night. Today their mother walked into a Gloucester hospital 40 miles away and was quoted as saying: "I have just murdered my family."

The victims were Jonathan Stern, 3, and his sister, Robin, six months.

Spurs to Meet Celtics in Vancouver

WINNIPEG (CP)—Glasgow Celtic, Scottish League First Division, will play three matches in Canada against Tottenham Hotspur of the English League First Division early in June, George Anderson, secretary of the Football Association of Canada, said today.

The matches will be at Vancouver, June 1; Toronto, June 8; and Montreal, June 9. (No game has been scheduled for the Hotspurs in Victoria.)

'Go Right Back There', Says Rescued Flier

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of two men lost for 10 days in the wilds of northern B.C. arrived here Wednesday and said he'll go "right back there as soon as my job calls for me to." Gregg Temperley, 26-year-old engineer from Powell River, looked little the worse for his experience. He said he was "tired and a little hungry."

NEW ISRAEL BORDERS
DEMANDED BY BRITAINViscount Crash
Kills 23 in U.K.

MANCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters) — A four-engine British Viscount airliner today crashed on a housing development here, killing all 20 persons aboard and three or four persons in two houses.

The turbo-propeller plane, Britain's best-selling airliner abroad, burst into flames and turned on its back as it plowed through the houses. Teddy bears and dolls lay scattered among the wreckage, indicating children were among the dead.

An eyewitness said the airliner, first Viscount delivered to British European Airways, made banging noises as it flew low near Ringway airport here. One wing dipped sharply, he said, and struck the ground, forcing the airliner to turn turtle.

Pilot HERO
"It looked as though the pilot, knowing he was going to crash, was trying to avoid two schools just outside the airport," the eyewitness said. "Many children were in the playgrounds at the time."

An official statement said there were 15 passengers and five crew aboard the plane.

Two houses were flattened.

BUDGET
TONIGHT

An anti-inflationary budget, geared to restrain credit and produce a surplus for the federal government, likely will be presented to Canadians tonight by Finance Minister Walter Harris.

He will start reading his budget speech in Commons shortly after 5 p.m., PST. Major tax cuts are not expected, but it could well contain announcement of a decision for a 15 per cent boost in pensions for the aged, veterans, war widows, disabled and blind.

(Phone The Times, 2-3131, for information on the budget.)

Aleutians
Rocked Again
By Tumbler

SITKA, Alaska (AP) — Another major earthquake occurred today in the Aleutian Islands, scene of more than 80 shocks since last Saturday's violent tremor that triggered destructive tidal waves.

A Seattle seismologist said it was the strongest of the after-shocks, but considerably lighter than the initial quake from which the tidal waves caused $2,000,000 damage in the Hawaiian Islands.

A coast and geodetic survey spokesman at Honolulu said it was unlikely today's shock would cause seismic waves.

The latest shock was recorded shortly before 7 a.m. PST at the coast and geodetic survey station here.

Shock was placed close to Attu Island, near the tip of the Aleutian chain. This is about 400 miles west of the Andreanof Islands, centre of Saturday's quake.

Meantime, Reeves Aleutian Airlines, which has an office at Cold Bay, Alaska, reported there have been 82 shocks felt since Saturday on Adak Island, all strong enough to move furniture.

"There are 15-foot-wide breaks in the road on Adak," an airline spokesman said. "Two bridges are out, and some housing is damaged."

Dr. Janowsky Dies, Here 18 Years
Medical practitioner here for 18 years, Dr. Samuel Janowsky, 1025 Pentrevel Place, died suddenly at Royal Jubilee Hospital today. He was 49.

Undercover Mountie
Trapped Drug Thugs

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young RCMP constable who passed himself off as a drug addict for several months—faced a press conference here today but the details of his dangerous role were kept secret.

Theodore Gandgal, 26, once again wearing the Mountie uniform, outlined his experience.

He departed after President Nasser held a long meeting with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi to discuss the outcome of Fawzi's four-month stay in the United States.

A few hours before Latif's departure, UN Undersecretary Ralph Bunche and Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the UN Emergency Force, left for Gaza, Egypt assured them of her "full co-operation" with the UNEF.

UN Control of Gaza
Suggested by Lloyd

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain Thursday called Israel's present frontiers with Arab nations "nonsense" and suggested they should be altered in a compromise settlement.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd also told the House of Commons in a one-day Middle East debate that the Gaza coastal strip should be placed under international control as a responsibility of the United Nations, pending a permanent settlement.

Lloyd said his latest information did not make it "quite so clear" that Egypt intends to take over administration of the Gaza Strip immediately.

CHEERS FOR BEVAN

Left-winger Aneurin Bevan, chief Labor spokesman on foreign affairs, said if Israel's "act of courageous faith" in quitting the Gaza Strip last week went unrequited, it would be "an act of faithlessness" on the part of those who persuaded Israel to withdraw.

Bevan drew cheers from both sides of the House when, without mentioning the United States by name, he said: "I believe that no nation, however rich, will be able to preserve peace in the Middle East merely by substituting her patronage for ours."

A remark from Bevan stung Lloyd into saying he believed the present frontiers between Israel and the Arab nations are "nonsense."

"Anyone who has done that journey from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem must realize there can be no permanent peace with the present demarcation line," Lloyd said.

The Tel Aviv road from the coast skirts Arab territory for several miles.

COMPROMISE SOLUTION

Bevan demanded to know whether Lloyd was "reviving fears" that Israel would have to give up a substantial amount of territory.

Lloyd replied he was "not so foolish as to say how much territory one side or the other would have to give up."

"Certainly there is no suggestion that this means sacrifices of territory by one side alone," he added. "It must be a compromise solution."

The basis for a permanent peace settlement, he said, must include guarantees against Israeli expansion as well as against Israel's "extermination" of ours.

There must be compromise settlements on frontiers, Arab refugees and water supplies.

Egyptian Governor
Takes Over in Gaza

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's Middle East news agency announced that Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Hassan Abdel Latif arrived in Gaza today as Egyptian governor.

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egypt's newly-appointed civil governor for the Gaza Strip left here today to take over his duties in the territory, reliable sources said.

He departed after President Nasser held a long meeting with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi to discuss the outcome of Fawzi's four-month stay in the United States.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

As Session Drags Tempers Shorten

Signs of restlessness are beginning to show in the legislature as the end of the current session approaches and many believe it will wind up at the end of next week.

Members swing to and fro in their swivel chairs, drum on their desks with nervous fingers, wander in and out of the chamber and upstairs into the parliamentary restaurant.

Tempers, too, are getting shorter.

"Sit down," thundered Highways Minister Gagliardi when a member interrupted.

Gagliardi Accustomed to Opposition Insults

"I resent that," cried Mr. Gagliardi leaping to his feet, "although I am used to insults from the other side of the House."

Three members jumped to their feet and started talking simultaneously when W. J. Asselstine (SC-Atlin) had the floor during the heated debate on the Stewart-Cassiar Road.

'King Alcohol' an Insidious Character

"Old King Alcohol is an insidious character," he said. "The more you get acquainted with him the better you like him. Familiarity, in his case, does not breed contempt."

Mr. Tisdale added the usual rider that he was not speaking from experience. No member of the House ever seems to admit to such experience.

Tom Uphill, the ever lively 83-year-old member for Fernie, spoke of his moderation last week and George Gregory (Liberal-Victoria) told the House his interest in the alcoholic strength of liquor sold in B.C. was "purely amateur."

Urging long-range plans

him during Wednesday's night sitting.

But a few minutes later the ebullient minister got up while someone else was talking and refused to sit down until he was ordered to by Mr. Speaker Irwin.

Lee Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook) concluded a speech on education by saying, "Well, that is all."

"Are you sure?" asked Mr. Gagliardi.

"Obviously the minister of highways is not interested in education," Mr. Nimsick snorted.

"Order!" bellowed Mr. Speaker Irwin, in such a loud voice that all four members flopped back into their chairs, including Mr. Asselstine.

The Speaker then motioned to Mr. Asselstine to proceed.

John Tisdale (SC-Saapich) has philosophical notions about drink and conveyed one or two of them to the House.

for education, plump, good-humored Mr. Nimsick raised a laugh by saying:

"Remember there will still be children 20 or 30 years from now... that is," he added, "unless we change our ways."

Quoting the poets seems to be a favorite indulgence among members this session. Just for a change, CCF Opposition leader Robert Strachan supplied a mis-quotation.

Adapting Shakespeare to his own uses, he chided the government with:

"Methinks the ministers do protest their innocence too much."

Beware: Albino Alice Likes Meat---Any Kind

If you see a white whale, don't stroke it.

"Sussing" around local waters at present is Albino Alice, a vicious two-ton mammal who'd as soon chew the child as cough.

Alice was sighted Tuesday by AB Jack Lindgren of HMCS James Bay in Ganges Harbor.

She's cruised Pacific waters for about 10 years and been sighted about 50 times.

Alice and her black brothers and sisters like meat, of any description. They—even attack other whales, ripping out their tongues as a delicacy.

But she's of value naturally. One black whale looks much like another black whale, but noting Alice, pure as the driven surf, movements of whales can be studied with considerable accuracy.

"Please suggest that other people who see Alice let us know," said Dr. Carl.

Alice is about 20 feet long and is believed to have recently had a baby—a black one.

DIRECTOR-STAR BRILLIANT

By AUDREY SLD. JOHNSON

As on their previous visit, little more than a year ago, Canadian Players turned from Shakespeare to Shaw, Wednesday night, and scored an unqualified triumph.

The pungent Shavian satire, "Man and Superman," was given an expert, crisply-styled performance that kept a sell-out Royal Theatre audience crackling with laughter and applause throughout its nearly three-hour length.

Shedding a brilliant light over the entire production was director, star Douglas Campbell. As the irascible revolutionary and fugitive from the jungle of women, Jack Tanner, Campbell turned in a performance that was top-of-the-tree in every respect.

CUNNING

A turn of his body, a movement of the foot, a tilt of an eyebrow, was often as telling a comment as some of Shaw's own quips. In the cunning use of timing for emphasis, in sustained brilliance of characterization and attention to detail.

It was a performance on a par with the best of England's comedy film stars.

Quality of acting was pyramidal, with Campbell at the apex. Next, and close too, came Ted Follows as the aggressively British chauffeur, Emory Straker, and Edwin Stephenson as the torch-bearing Victorian lover.

VERSATILE

Follows' characterization and acting style was entirely delightful. That he is a versatile actor was proven also, by his previous night's performance as a convincing and serious Cassio.

The company's strength lies principally in its male population. Ann Casson was given every opportunity by Shaw to make the female lead equal in brilliance to that of the male. But while obviously a talented, experienced and charming actress, Miss Casson did not give the comedy its full worth.

Max Helpmann's blustering Irish-American "heavy father" was excellently done and John Gardiner, as his son, was also quite satisfactory.

Distant Sister

WINNIPEG (CP) — Michael Brennstuhl heard his sister's voice for the first time in 31 years when she surprised him with a telephone call from Poland to say she planned to visit him soon. Mr. Brennstuhl came to Canada 31 years ago.

U.K. Shipyards Will Support Arbitration

LONDON (Reuters) — Shipbuilding employers agreed today to submit a union wage claim to arbitration, provided 200,000 workers call off a nation-wide strike scheduled to begin at noon Saturday.

Labor Minister Iain Macleod told the House of Commons the employers had stipulated the union must also agree to submit to arbitration its demands for a 10 per cent wage increase.

Earlier today, the Shipbuilding Employers' Federation asked Macleod to meet with them. He drove to their offices from a cabinet meeting, called to discuss the strike which could cost Britain millions of dollars worth of contracts.

UNION OPPOSED

Union leaders have already told Macleod they can not accept his arbitration plan, and want a definite pay offer from the owners.

Over the shipyard situation loomed the greater threat of a strike by 250,000 workers in the general engineering industries who are demanding a similar raise.

Leaders of the giant Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering unions, which is organizing both wage demands, meet Friday to decide how to handle the larger stoppage. They may call for strikes at selected targets or order a national shutdown.

Cost of the pay claims is estimated at more than £10,000,000 a year. Employers, who say that prices must be cut and not increased if Britain's export position is to improve, appear determined to challenge the unions.

TORONTO THUG GETS $11,000

TORONTO (CP) — A robber stuck a gun in the ribs of a girl payroll courier in Toronto's west-central garment district today and fled with the $11,000 she was carrying.

Crown Zellerbach '56 Sales Set Company Mark

VANCOUVER — Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited today reported that its sales in 1956 reached an all-time high of $79,474,192, 7 per cent over 1955, but that its net income of $9,924,219 was only 0.4 per cent above the previous year.

In his annual report to share owners, president Peter T. Sinclair, attributed the "retarded earnings" to "increased costs, a weaker lumber market, and a substantial exchange penalty on sales paid for in U.S. currency owing to the premium position of the Canadian dollar."

The company's pulp and paper mills at Ocean Falls, 350 miles north of Vancouver, and at Elk Falls on Vancouver Island, produced a record 291,285 tons of paper, paperboard and kraft pulp for sale, an increase of 16.2 per cent over 1955.

This increase reflected the first production of kraft pulp for sale at the expanded Elk Falls mill, general speed-up of paper machines, and improved operating efficiencies, the report said.

The No. 1 newsprint machine at Elk Falls, for instance, was brought up to an output of 320 tons daily.

Ship Collision in Atlantic Fog Sends Refugees Back to Europe

THE HAGUE (CP) — The Dutch steamship Waterman, bound for Halifax and New York with 800 passengers, collided in North Atlantic fog early today with the Italian freighter Merit. The Waterman messaged that she had a hole above her waterline at the stern and was returning to Rotterdam.

Neither vessel was considered in immediate danger. Dirkszwager shipping agency in Rotterdam said the Waterman also messaged: "All well on board and weather conditions satisfactory."

The 9,177-ton Waterman-carrying 312 Hungarian refugees who will make their homes in Canada and 450 Dutch emigrants destined for Canada and the United States — is operated by the Holland-American Line. The 7,174-ton Merit sails out of Genoa.

The vessels collided at a position about 500 miles southwest of Ireland. The Waterman was three days out from Rotterdam when they hit.

The Waterman advised vessels in the vicinity that she would not require assistance after earlier sending out an SOS.

Nearing the half-way mark in campaigning, Red Cross Society has collected a total of $20,225 in this area. The goal for March, "Red Cross Month," is $79,500.

Police Find Bank Drafts Of $375,000

(FROM CP DISPATCHES)—Vancouver—Bank drafts worth $375,000 have been seized by Vancouver police searching for two expert Montreal safe-crackers.

Detectives missed the men when they raided a motel Tuesday, but they arrested three women whom they are holding for investigation.

The seizure and arrests resulted from co-operation between Vancouver authorities and eastern police trying to capture the men who blew open a Trans-Canada Air Lines safe in Montreal's Mount Royal Hotel March 4.

Five books contained bank drafts for U.S. currency. A detective classified all the drafts as "good as gold."

In addition to the bank drafts police seized $2,000 in cash, which they said had been left in the motel safe; a nine-millimeter automatic pistol, and 47 rounds of ammunition.

INCREASE PRODUCTION

ABBOTSFORD—D. R. Nicholson, president of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, Wednesday urged farmers to increase milk production to reduce costs.

"It is time that we give a good deal of thought to producing enough excess milk to be manufactured into high-class dairy products, to pay a goodly share of the entire cost of our individual dairy operations."

SOIL LAB STARTED

SUMMERLAND—Sod was broken officially Wednesday by Reeve F. E. Atkinson for the new $200,000 soils laboratory to be built at the experimental farm east of the present offices. Dr. T. H. Anstey, farm superintendent, reports that the structure will be completed by fall.

ADMITS POINT FOR FIREMEN

OTTAWA (CP)—Presence of a second man in the cab of a yard diesel locomotive can reduce the risk of accident "to a degree," the royal commission on the CPR diesel issue heard Tuesday.

John Shepp, of Vancouver, the CPR's Pacific region chief of labor relations, conceded this under cross-examination by David Lewis, of Toronto, counsel for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers (CLC), on testimony he gave last week.

However, Mr. Shepp did not retreat from his earlier opinion that firemen are not necessary in yard service.

Funds Asked For Guides' World Camps

SOOKE—Mrs. C. H. Radford of Sooke and Douglas Forrester of West Vancouver were guest speakers at the March meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute.

Mrs. Radford, district commissioner of the harbor district of the Sooke division, Girl Guides, spoke on the three world camps to be held this summer in Canada, Great Britain and Switzerland, in connection with the centenary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell.

She asked for support from members of the institute in financing the representatives who will attend the camps.

Mr. Forrester, who is compiling a history of Sooke in conjunction with the Women's Institute, gave a resume of the work.

He asked that a work committee from the institute assist in gathering data.

Members of this committee are Mrs. L. B. Wilkinson, Mrs. Walter Conder, Mrs. G. Hay and Mrs. R. Strong. Mrs. G. A. Ackerman is writing the chapter on the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute. It is hoped the work will be completed for the centennial year 1958.

An engraved silver mug was presented to Mrs. Raymond Blouin for her new son, Michael Anthony.

Mrs. P. Wilfrid appealed for donations in furnishing a cottage for a Hungarian family housed on Woodside Farm. Articles most needed are kitchen utensils and equipment.

Members were reminded to complete work for the Tweedsmuir Cup national VI competition. They also were asked to knit squares for the "blankets for Hungary" project.

Mrs. E. Butler, who presided at the meeting, thanked both the speakers.

LOOK OUT BUD... WORM

Torpedo Bombers To Fight Bugs

Grumman Avengers, wartime torpedo bombers, will roar over Vancouver Island this year, their bomb bays loaded with death.

Their target: The Black-headed Budworm, whose voracious appetite is threatening 3,000,000,000 feet of timber extending over nearly 2,000,000 acres and worth hundreds of millions of dollars. It will be the largest spraying job ever undertaken in British Columbia against insect infestation.

The budworm, in the larval stage, eats the foliage of the trees. Trees can usually survive one or two years of such feeding, but a third and fourth year usually brings widespread killing. The budworm is fairly prevalent throughout British Columbia, normally in small numbers, but under favorable climatic conditions the population soars into billions, which threaten to kill great tracts of timber.

Men from the Dominion Science Service and timber owners on the northern end of the Island had been watching such a buildup and became alarmed in 1955.

An official committee was immediately formed of foresters from Alaska Pine & Cellulose, Canadian Forest Products, Powell River Company, Ltd., Crown Zellerbach Limited, MacMillan and Bloedel Limited, and the Tahsis Company, with representatives from the B.C. Forest Service and the Dominion Science Service. The committee directed an intensive survey of the situation and ordered a trial spraying on selected plots. They found it was possible to kill 97 to 100 per cent of the insects by aerial spraying at the proper time.

Last summer, the committee summed up its egg sampling and feared another bad year would bring widespread killing. They decided spraying was essential and engaged Skyway Air Service of Langley, which had taken part in massive assault on the spruce budworm in New Brunswick. Skyway will concentrate on the critical area of 150,000 acres between Nimpkish Lake and Neutostok Arm and extending north to Port Hardy. Experts from the fisheries

SOOKE—The Sooke Girl Guide Association is planning a silver tea and children's fashion show to be held in the Sooke Community Hall Friday afternoon.

Conveners are Mrs. D. Maze and Mrs. W. Strong. Proceeds of the affair will go towards travelling expenses of the three girls who are representing the Juan de Fuca (formerly Sooke division) at centenary camps this summer.
